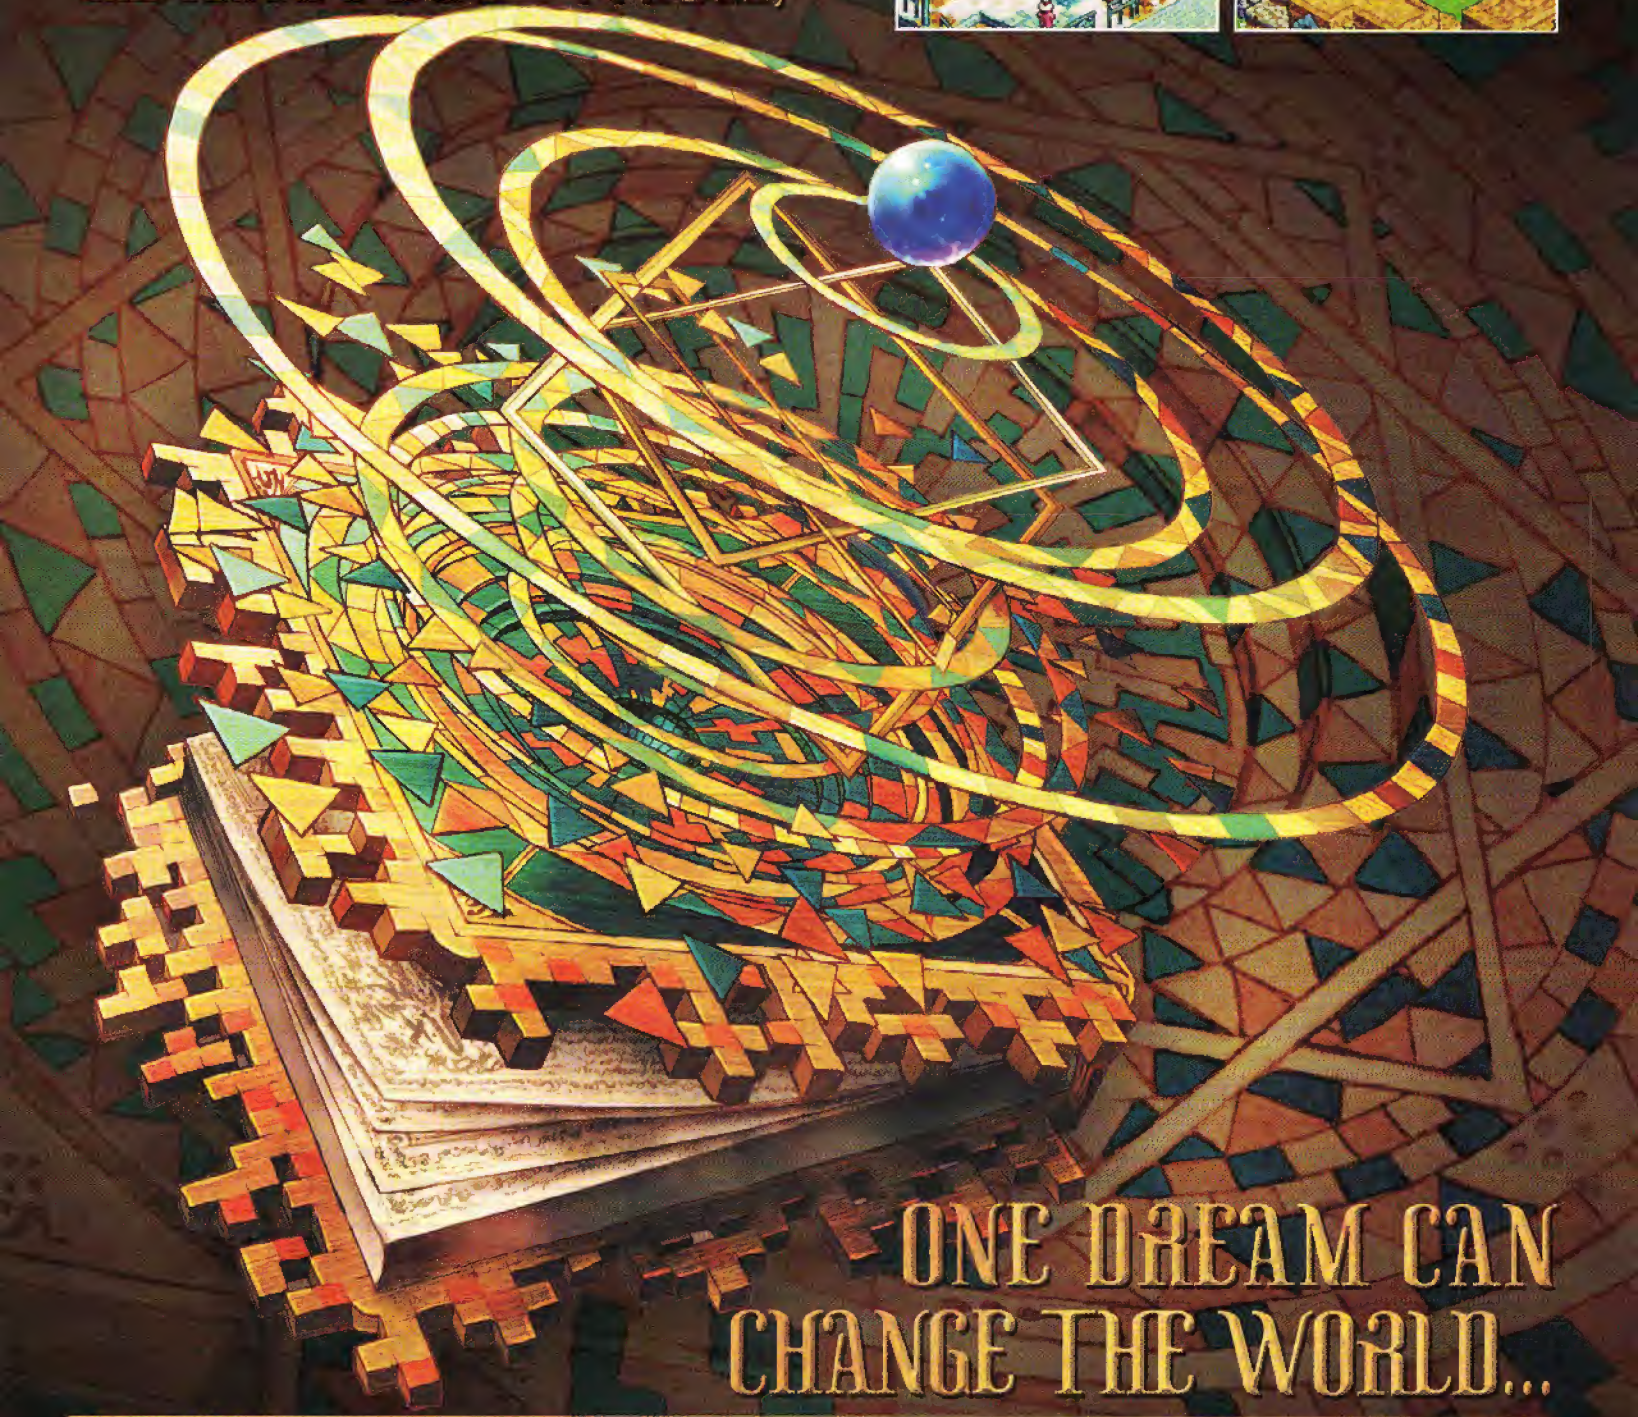
IT TAKES ONLY ONE HEARTFELT WISH;



ONE DREAM CAN CHANGE THE WORLD...

Long before the times that history remembers, there was an age of great magic in an ancient land called Kiltia. When the great flood swept over the world, the culture perished, but a key to its magic and secrets—a book called the Grand Grimoire—is said to have survived. It is foretold that the one who holds the ancient text will be able to change the world. Many have sought the book, but none have ever found it. Through the ages, many legends were written about the Grand Grimoire, but legends are often forgotten. Those who once knew it called it... The Final Fantasy. One day in the peaceful, snow-covered town of St. Ivalice a young boy named Mewt discovers a mysterious book with no title in the local bookstore. Little do Mewt and friends Marche and Ritz realize that they will soon begin the greatest adventure of their lives.

CHARACTERS

From the real-world town of St. Ivalice to the world of Ivalice, you'll meet many new friends, familiar faces and mysterious enemies.

MARCHE RADIUJU

RACE: HUMAN

Marche Radiuju recently moved to St. Ivalice both because his parents got divorced and because his younger brother Doned needed the fresh country air for his health. Marche is the new kid in town and is very unsure of himself. When he appears in the world of Ivalice, he begins his quest to find a way home—a quest that will change his life forever.

MEWT RANDELL

RACE: HUMAN

Mewt Randell is Marche's and Ritz's classmate in the town of St. Ivalice. Naturally shy and passive, Mewt is teased and bullied at school, adding to the boy's introversion. Mewt's mother passed away, and his father, Cid, is always drinking. His life seems dreary and meaningless until he finds a mysterious book that changes the world and turns him into a powerful prince.

RITZ MALHEUR

RACE: HUMAN (VIERA JOBS)

Ritz Malheur is a very headstrong, outspoken classmate of Marche's and Mewt's in the real world. She has a secret complex about her hair, and in Ivalice, Ritz's one wish comes true. She travels throughout Ivalice with her friend Shara and their clan. Ritz is well-respected by the Viera and able to learn their jobs.

MONTBLANC

RACE: MOOGLE

Montblanc is Marche's first friend in Ivalice. The clever and witty Moogle teaches Marche all about the world of Ivalice and helps him start up their clan. Montblanc will follow Marche throughout their adventures in Ivalice—he's a loyal friend and clan member. He is very curious about Marche's world and encourages Marche to become more confident in himself.

DONED RADIUJU

RACE: HUMAN

Doned Radiuju is Marche's younger brother. In the real world, a medical condition prevents Doned from being able to walk, run or play with other children. In Ivalice, though, his health is perfect—he is a mischievous, happy-go-lucky, but somewhat selfish boy.

QUEEN REMEDI

RACE: ???

Queen Remedi is the personification of Mewt's mother and Cid's wife who passed away in the real world—she takes on the same role in the world of Ivalice, but she also rules as queen. Queen Remedi sees to it that every wish Prince Mewt desires is realized.

CID RANDELL

RACE: HUMAN

Cid Randell is Mewt's father. Cid's life in the real world fell apart after the death of his wife, Mewt's mother—he lost his job and began drinking, neglecting Mewt's feelings. In the world of Ivalice, Cid is still Mewt's father, but he is also the highly respected royal judgemaster.

BABUS SWAIN

RACE: NU MOU

Babus is Prince Mewt's personal attendant in the world of Ivalice. He is a serious and dutiful Nu Mou Runeseeker who lives and breathes to see the prince protected and happy. Babus's selfless loyalty to Prince Mewt and Queen Remedi defines him—his desires are theirs.

LLEDNAR TWEM

RACE: ???

Llednar Twem is a dark, mysterious young man who appears at the Royal Palace as one of Prince Mewt's guardians. He is a Mageknight with a rash, cold nature. The source of Llednar's powers is unknown—his very existence is an anomaly.

SHARA

RACE: VIERA

Shara is Ritz's first friend and her clanmate in the world of Ivalice. She is a serious and proud Viera, but also very kind-hearted and insightful. Shara is incredibly loyal to Ritz, offering her support and guidance throughout their many adventures in Ivalice.

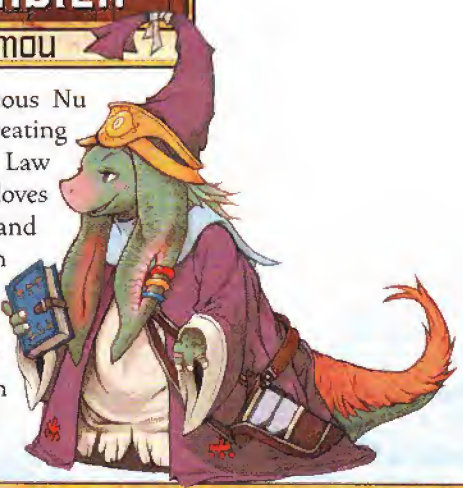
NONO

RACE: MOOGLE

Nono is Montblanc's younger brother. He's a master at tinkering with gadgets and inventing impressive machines. Nono runs an airship of his own design that he will use as a merchant ship after you help him out in Baguba Port (see page 13).

EZEL BERBIER

RACE: NU MOU



Ezel Berbier is a mysterious Nu Mou with a knack for creating powerful Antilaw and Law cards. The crafty genius loves his freedom above all else and runs a card shop in Cadoan (see page 16). The Royal Palace fears Ezel's powers, but he will aid you after you save him from being captured in Cadoan.

THE BASICS

FFTA is a very deep game, so take a moment to learn the basics before diving into the more advanced stuff.

JOBS

RACES & JOBS pg. 22

YOUR CHOSEN CAREER

The most important aspect of Final Fantasy Tactics Advance is the job system. To become a true master of the battlefield, you must not only know what race is a good fit for what job, but also when and where to use your characters most effectively. Strong, weapon-based jobs like Soldiers and Dragoons will be good on the front lines, and also effective against magic users. Magical jobs are used to keep your party in good health and strike enemies from a distance with powerful spells.

Characters with high Attack and Hit Point stats should wield large weapons and charge into battle.

Keep magic users and Archers at the rear of the battlefield so they can avoid taking damage.

SEARCH THE WANT ADS

There are 34 jobs in the game, and all are limited by a combination of a character's race, sex and ability knowledge. (Humans, for example, are the only race that can become Blue Mages, but they must first master one White Mage A-ability and one Black Mage A-ability.) You can change jobs at any time with no penalty—you won't forget mastered abilities or have your stats reset to zero — but some stats may rise and fall based on the nature of the job. Fencers, for example, have a natural quickness, so a character's Evade rating will rise when she takes on the job.

Characters gain experience every time they participate in a mission. You don't have to use an ability during the mission to gain experience in it.

Once you select a new job, all your weapons and armor will go back to the clan. You can then reequip the character with appropriate items.

ABILITIES

JOBS pg. 24 ABILITIES pg. 181

MASTER OF YOUR DOMAIN

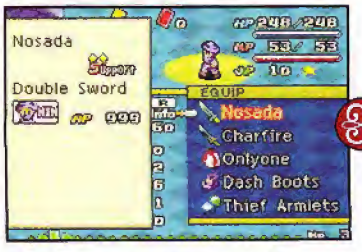
You learn abilities by equipping weapons and armor. An item will teach an ability to three different jobs (at the most), and some items may not teach any abilities at all. As soon as you equip an ability-teaching item, the character will be able to use the ability. If you gain enough experience while you have the item equipped, you will master the ability and be able to use it at any time—even if you drop the item that taught it to you.

If you unequip an item before mastering its ability, you won't be able to use the ability.

If you learn only part of an ability, you can later pick up where you left off. Try to master one ability at a time.

TAKE IT DOWN, PASS IT AROUND

The more abilities a character knows, the more options you'll have when entering battle. (You can swap a character's secondary A-ability before placing him or her on a battlefield—a handy thing to do when laws start getting in the way.) Once a character learns an ability, place the item back into storage and equip the character with a new one. Never sell an item that teaches an ability! You don't know when you might want a different character to learn it.



You can press the R Button while highlighting an item to see if it teaches any abilities.

Once a character masters an ability, remove the item and see if anyone else can learn something from it.

MISSIONS

MISSION KEYS pg. 68 MISSION ITEMS pg. 180

MISSION REQUIREMENTS

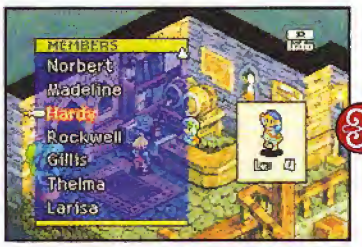
There are two kinds of missions in the game. One requires you to command troops on the battlefield, and one (known as a Dispatch mission) lets you send a single member of your clan off on his or her own. Many Dispatch missions require you to have a special Mission Item before taking them on. The items usually have mundane names (like Black Thread or Homework), and are obtained by completing other missions.

Found Mission Items are listed in the Clan menu. You can carry as many as you want, so never discard them.

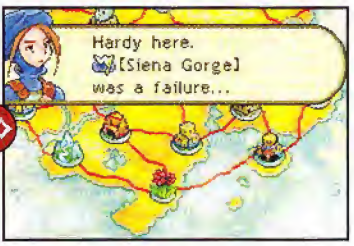
If you don't have a required item, the man at the pub will ask you to come back later.

JUMP AROUND

When you accept a Dispatch mission, you'll be able to send anyone in your clan unless the mission specifies a job type. When scrolling through the clan, look for characters who jump up and down when the cursor lands on them—they're eager to try the mission and they have a high probability of succeeding. Characters who keep walking have a 50% chance of success, and characters who fall down will almost certainly fail. If you fail a mission, it will usually reappear at the pub after a certain number of days.



Happy clan members are effective clan members! Send a jumping clan member whenever possible.



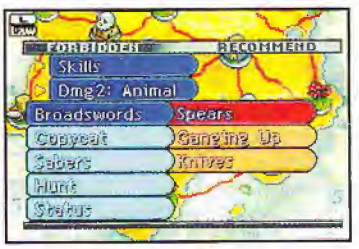
If you fail a mission (and even jumping characters fail from time to time), check the pub for it to reappear.

THE LAW

THE LAW pg. 11

I AM THE LAW!

Each battle is governed by the World Law, which dictates actions that are forbidden or recommended during the battle. The law changes from day to day and also after you successfully complete a mission. As you progress through the game, you'll have to deal with more and more laws—but you'll also learn sneaky ways around them. If you violate a law, the judge will penalize you and possibly throw your character in the slammer.



If you don't like a certain law, wait a couple of days for it to change.

The World Law system is pretty complicated. See page 11 for more information on its implementation.

FINDING INFORMATION

STATS APLENTY

There are tons of things to remember in Final Fantasy Tactics Advance—weapon stats, abilities, mission locations, job types and on and on. Luckily, you don't have to memorize them all. The Select Button is your all-purpose help menu. When you want information about something, highlight it and press the Select Button. If the Select Button doesn't tell you what you need to know, try the R Button—it will show you some stats and game features.

If you press Select while highlighting a Mission Item, you'll learn what it does in combat.

If you press the R Button while on a World Map location, you'll see any outstanding missions there.

WORLD MAP

Most of the action your clan will encounter will begin on the world map. You can visit any establishments in towns, engage rival clans, place location symbols, go treasure hunting and discover special missions. Use the cursor to highlight a location and press R to view its details. Press the L Button while on the world map to check the law for the current day.

TOWNS

Every town in Ivalice has a pub where clans gather to share rumors, purchase missions and rest from their travels. Talk to the pub clerk to buy new missions for your clan or to back out of a mission you've already accepted. Pub clerks keep track of any rumors they have heard as clans have come and gone from the pubs. All towns also have a shop where you can purchase equipment for your clan. Unique establishments such as the prison, the Monster Bank and the Card Keeper are in only one town.

PUB	pg. 12
SHOP	pg. 12
PRISON	pg. 14
MONSTER BANK	pg. 14
CARD KEEPER	pg. 16

ENGAGE

After your clan purchases a mission from the pub, travel to where the mission takes place and engage your enemies (start the battle). Carefully choose the clan members who will accompany you into each battle. When making your selections, keep the laws in mind, as well as the terrain and the foes you will be battling. Before you begin each battle, press L to go into View mode. It allows you to see each enemy's name, race, job, equipment, Hit Points (HP), Magic Points (MP) and abilities.

BATTLE FLOW	pg. 58
MISSION KEYS	pg. 68

CLEAR THE MISSION

When your clan clears a mission, you may win a combination of Gil, Ability Points (AP), equipment, a quest item or cards (after you gain the ability to use cards). Most cards and equipment you win for completing a mission are random, but a few are not. When a unit returns successful from a Dispatch Mission, only that character gets to use the AP he or she won. Clearing missions is the key to strengthening your clan and progressing through the story.

USING THE WORLD MAP SCREEN

L — LAW

Press the L Button anywhere on the world map to display the laws list and the current World Laws. The laws that govern all engagements in Ivalice change daily, so check often.

Select a location and press the R Button to show the location's current activity. All missions, shops and establishments will appear under the location name. You can view any treasure hunts in the area by pressing R.

CLAN FUNDS

Your clan's total funds are displayed in Gil in the lower-left corner of the world map. Your clan will use its funds to buy missions and equipment. You may also need to pay to bail clan members out of jail or to pay fines.

CALENDAR

One day passes when your clan travels from one location to the next. Every month (see the chart on the right) has 20 days in it. The missions that are available at the pubs change depending on the month.

- KINGMOON
- MADMOON
- SAGEMOON
- HUNTMOON
- BARDMOON

+ A — MOVE

Use the Control Pad to select a location, then press the A Button to move there. If you are traveling to an area a few locations away, you can press the B Button to stop your clan before it arrives at its destination. Your clan will stop automatically if it runs into a rival clan or certain automatic missions.

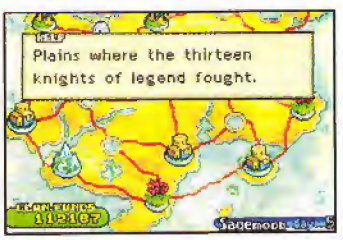
Press the Select Button at any time to display help messages for the selected menu. The messages display such information as equipment statistics and job descriptions. Use the help messages to learn more about the world of Ivalice and the game.



START — MENU

Press the Start Button to bring up the World Map menu. From it, you can access the Party menu (see page 16), Clan menu, area list and System menu (where you'll save your game).

WORLD MAP SYMBOLS

After you complete a Story mission, you'll have to place a symbol on the world map. The symbols (there are 30 in all) represent locations such as cities, mountains and forests, and can be placed wherever you like. The left-hand list below gives a brief description of the eight different landscape types, while the right-hand list shows the order in which you earn symbols (the first two are placed for you). Be sure to read the Treasure Hunts section below before you start placing symbols.

Build the world! You can scatter symbols around the map however you see fit, although you'll unlock certain Treasure Hunts if you place the symbols in a certain order. Keep in mind that one day passes each time you move between two circles on the world map. If you place symbols far apart, you'll do a lot of walking.

	TYPE Town	Towns have a pub and a shop open 24/7. Most also have a third unique location, such as a prison.
	TYPE Wood	Woods are lush, green lands filled with trees. They have more battlefield obstacles than other locations.
	TYPE Field	Fields are the most wide-open areas in the game. You can cover a lot of ground quickly when fighting.
	TYPE Mountain	Mountains sport high-altitude battlefields, which makes them a perfect place for Archers.
	TYPE Bog	You won't travel fast in a bog—they are a combination of flat lands and water.
	TYPE Sand	Sands have few obstacles and almost no landscape features of interest.
	TYPE Cave	Ready for some spelunking? Caves are dark, dank places where heroes fear to tread.
	TYPE Jagd	Jagds are special locations. There is no law, and fallen friends who aren't revived will leave the party forever.

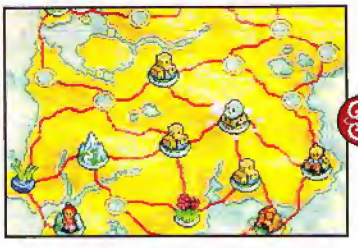
TREASURE HUNTS

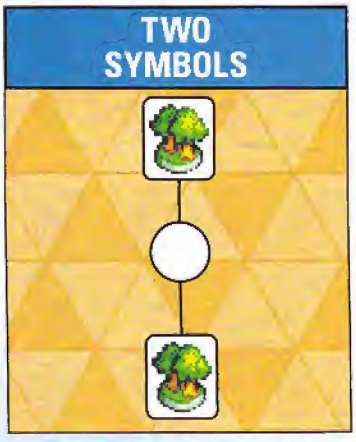
Treasure Hunts are special events that sometimes occur when you place a new symbol on the world map. When you drop the symbol in one of four patterns (see below), every symbol directly connected to the new one will begin to shake. When you walk to the shaking ones and investigate, you can find hidden items.

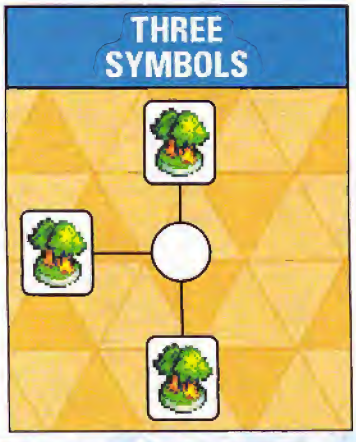
Go to a shaking symbol and press A to initiate a Treasure Hunt. All found items are random.

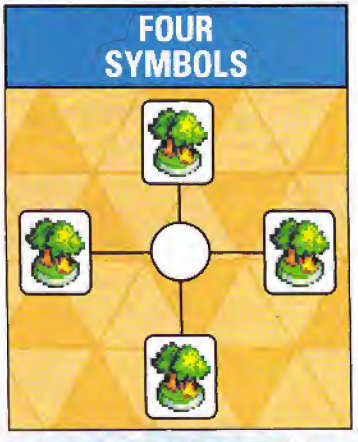


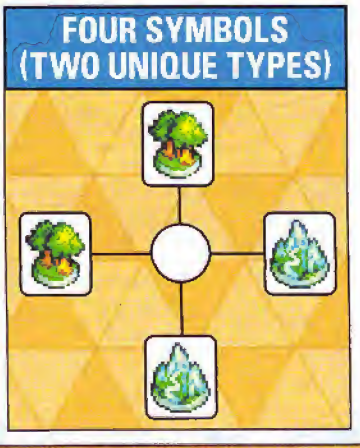
Place symbols around a central location, then drop a final piece in the middle for maximum Hunt potential.

If you place your symbols as shown to the left—with a Jagd in the middle of the towns—you'll find a Ribbon.





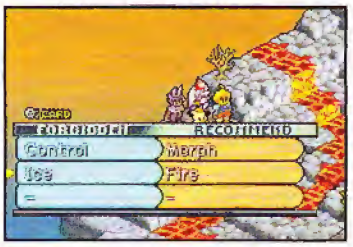




JUDGMENT SYSTEM

DO'S AND DON'TS

After you enter a battle, but before placing your forces, press the Select Button to see the current laws. If a character breaks a law (marked as Forbidden), he or she will receive either a Yellow or a Red Card. If you use the Recommended attacks, you will receive extra Judge Points.



Yellow Cards are warnings; a single Red Card will send you directly to jail without passing Go.

ANARCHY RULES!

The exception to the law system is the Jagds locations. There is no law in the Jagd, so feel free to use whatever sneaky attacks you like. Be careful, however! If a clan member falls in combat, you must revive him or her before the end of the battle, or the unit will be lost to you forever!

It's always sad to see a friend go, so don't let it happen. Bring lots of Phoenix Downs into the Jagds.

LAWS & PENALTIES

There are seven sets of laws in the game, and they change based on how far you are in the game. (See page 69 for info about the Law Sets.) If you break a law, you will be dinged with a penalty in addition to the Yellow or Red Card. Penalties vary depending on the law broken and what set it's in. It's always best to stay within the law, but you can use the charts on this page to see what penalties you'll suffer if you choose to ignore the rules. The red number next to the law is a ranking of importance—R1 laws, when broken, carry a small penalty; but R5 or higher laws will bring swift retribution from the judges.

PENALTY	EFFECT
AP Fine	A mastered ability's AP will be reduced, forcing the character to learn it again. Avoid this penalty at all costs!
Monster Run	A random monster from the Monster Bank (if applicable) will run away.
Card Fine	Your clan will have to surrender multiple cards.
Gil Fine	Your clan will have to surrender Gil.

PENALTY	EFFECT
Status Down	The character's stats will drop in one or more areas.
Item Fine	Your clan will have to surrender one or more usable items.
EqpItem Fine	The character will have to surrender an equipped item.
Volunteer	Your clan will have to surrender the Gil reward for completing the mission.

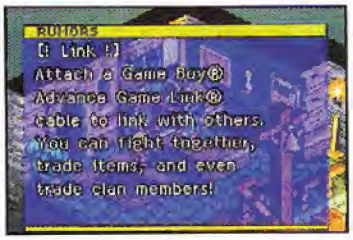
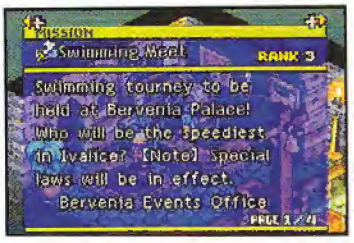
PUBS

Pubs serve as bases of operations, sources of gossip, hubs for missions and places to unwind after long battles. You can talk to pub owners to learn rumors, accept a mission or back out of an accepted mission. New rumors and missions will be added as you progress through the game, so visit pubs fairly frequently to see if any new business can come your way.



Some missions won't be available until you listen to a certain rumor. New rumors are marked with an icon.



Make sure that you have all the required items before accepting a mission.

MISSION TYPES

ICON	MISSION TYPE & DESCRIPTION
	An ordinary mission—go to the proper spot on the world map and defeat the enemy in whatever way necessary.
	An Encounter Mission—go to the prescribed spot on the world map and engage another clan in combat.
	A Liberation Mission—go to a spot on the world map and defeat a foe. Some Liberation Missions are also Dispatch Missions.
	A Dispatch Mission—select one unit from your clan, then send him or her away for a set number of days. See the chart below for success rates.

THE PRICE OF FAME

Missions aren't free—you'll have to shell out Gil if you want to take on a challenge. Mission fees will vary slightly depending on whether you have freed the town in which you accept the mission. Freeing other locations and gaining more turf for your clan will also lower prices on items in shops.

FAILURE IS NOT AN OPTION

When you are trying to choose a clan member for a Dispatch Mission, your units will let you know how they feel about it. Units who leap in the air are ready to go and will probably succeed. Those who walk along or slump to the ground don't have much hope for the future. A clan member's chances of success depend on a number of factors, including the character's job, level and stats. You may receive a bonus for completing missions with certain clan members—see the chart to the right.

SUCCESS RATE	REACTION	EXPLANATION
HIGH		A character who jumps in the air has a high success rate. You won't receive a bonus for finishing the mission, however. Bonuses are extra Gil and AP—not items.
		If a unit keeps walking, his or her success rate is around 50 percent. You will get a small bonus if the unit is successful.
LOW		If a unit slumps over, you know his or her success rate will be low. If the underdog manages to eke out a victory, however, you will receive a huge bonus.

SHOPS

Shops are where you buy and sell weapons, armor, helms and items. Different items will become available as you progress through the game, but a shop will never stop selling an item once it starts. The price of goods is determined by how much turf your clan owns, but different stores will sell things at slightly different prices. You can get discounts on items by increasing the amount of turf your clan holds, and also by raising your Clan Skills.

+ A BUY/SELL

Press Up and Down on the Control Pad to scroll through items, then press the A Button to buy or sell them.

SELECT JOB

Press the Select Button while highlighting an item to see which jobs can use it.

TRADED GOODS

If you have a friend with an FFTA Game Pak, you can link up and swap items. If you've met the merchant, Nono, he'll be in the next shop you visit and offer items you can't get anywhere else. The trick works once, then you must link up again.

Nono's items are a mystery until you've purchased them—unless you use the list to the right!

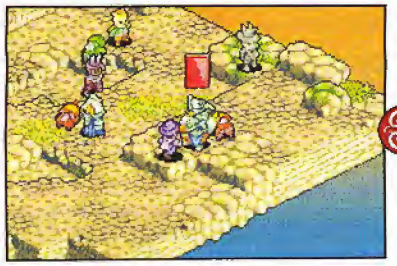
PRISON

In Ivalice, the law is final and the judgment swift. Those who break the law are sent to Ivalice's prison in Sprohm. Any character who receives a Red Card in battle is taken from the battlefield and thrown into jail on the spot—the character is also fined at the end of the battle. Prison sentences differ, but they all require the imprisoned unit to remain in jail through a number of battles. You can release one of your clan members from prison by paying a steep bail, but all penalties will remain. To wipe a clan member's career of all penalties, the character must pay a fee and serve time in prison to secure a pardon.



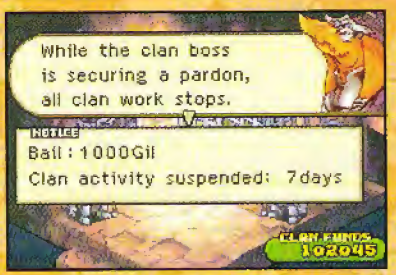
If a clan member breaks a law during a battle and the judge issues a Red Card, the character will be taken to jail.

When a clan member is thrown in jail, you can pay the hefty bail at the prison, or wait for the sentence to run out.

ACQUITTAL OF THE CLAN LEADER

When a clan member is given a Yellow or Red Card, he or she may suffer a stat penalty. Judgment becomes more and more harsh the more Yellow and Red Cards a character accumulates. The only way to wipe a character's record clean and reverse any penalties is to get a pardon for the character. When Marche needs a pardon for himself, the rules are a little different. While Marche is securing a pardon, all clan activities come to a halt. Before you agree to Marche's acquittal, make sure you have no contracted missions with time limits, or your time could run out.

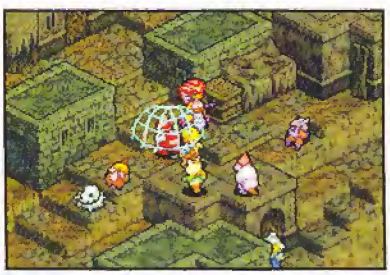
Yellow Cards accumulate. Eventually, an offense that a character would get a warning (Yellow Card) for will result in a Red Card and imprisonment.



Marche can check himself into prison to secure a pardon for all his previous charges—clan activity stops until he is released.

MONSTER BANK

The Monster Bank, located in Cyril, will hold up to 20 different monsters for you. Some monsters are rarer than others, but they all roam Ivalice, so you're bound to encounter them during your travels. To catch a monster for your Monster Bank collection, you must weaken the monster in battle then use a Hunter's Capture ability on the monster. A captured monster will automatically go to the Monster Bank. Visit the Monster Bank and feed your monsters items to increase their affection toward you. Morphers can take advantage of captured monsters' abilities by using monster souls and their Morph ability.



Weaken a monster in battle, then use a Hunter's Capture ability on it. It will automatically go to the Monster Bank.

Feed your monsters items at the Monster Bank to raise their affection. Each monster likes different items, so experiment.

MONSTER CARE

Monsters are people, too! Well, maybe not, but they do need to be cared for. Visit your monsters at the Monster Bank to play with them and feed them. Monsters will dislike Marche to begin with. (Wouldn't you if you were caught against your will?) To increase a monster's affection, feed it items it likes. (Each monster has its own preferences.) Check the monster's feeding message to see how well it likes the item you are feeding it. The more expensive the item, the faster a monster's affection will rise. Listen to your monsters when you greet them to see how much they have grown to like you.

When your monsters first arrive at the Monster Bank, they won't be friendly. Feed your monsters items to make them happy.

Each monster prefers to eat some items over others. Rare or expensive items usually taste the best to monsters.

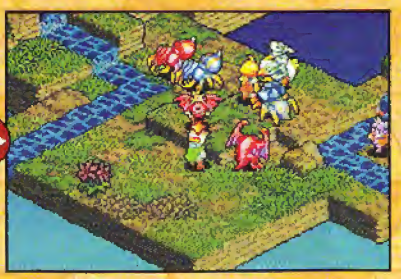
THE MORPHER & MONSTER RELATIONSHIP

When one of your clan's Hunters catches a monster in battle (see the list below) with his Capture ability, you will get a monster soul for the monster type you caught. Souls are Morpher-exclusive weapons that grant Morphers the ability to use a monster's special abilities in battle. Morphers equip souls and learn abilities from them the same way all jobs use weapons and gain new abilities. Morphers rely on monster souls to perform a wide range of abilities in battle, from direct damage spells to status ailments—without captured monsters, they can't function.

When a Hunter successfully catches a new monster with the Capture ability, you will get a new monster Soul.



Morphers can equip a monster soul to gain that monster's unique abilities in battle.

CAPTURE MONSTERS FOR SOULS

There are several kinds of monsters within each monster family, but only one monster soul. For example, the Floateye displayed below is called a Floateye, but its soul is called an Eye Soul. If you capture a Floateye, or an Ahriman (a blue Floateye), you will get an Eye Soul.

CARDS AND THE CARD SHOP

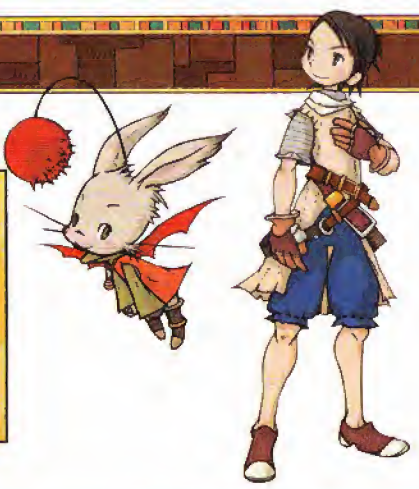
Once you reach a certain point in the game, you will be able to affect the laws of battle by using Law and Antilaw cards. The cards let you set new laws or nullify existing ones that you don't like. You'll earn the cards for completing missions and winning random engagements—but unlike armor, items and weapons, you can hold only a set number. You can trade cards or exchange some of your cards for one or more of the shopkeeper's at the card shop in the town of Cadoan. All cards have a certain value, so you might need to make a two-for-one or three-for-one swap to get the card you want.

Black Antilaw cards let you break existing laws, while white Law cards permit you to add new laws.

You'll have to match the card-shop owner's price before he'll give you a new card. He doesn't take kindly to hagglers.

READING THE MENU SCREENS

The place to fiddle with your clan is the Party menu. To access it, press Start while on the world map, then select Party. Once there, you can tinker with individual clan members, look at your inventory, rearrange the order of appearance and more. To call up a specific clan member, highlight him or her with the Control Pad and press the A Button.



PUSH A

NAME

YELLOW AND RED CARDS

The game tracks the number of Yellow and Red Cards each clan member has. You can lower the number by visiting prison.

JOB

CHARACTER CHANGE

If you want to look at a different character, press Left or Right on the Control Pad to scroll through the clan.

STATUS

Characters are ranked in eight categories: Move (how far you can move in combat), Jump (movement from high to low elevations), Evade (the chance of avoiding attacks), Speed (how often you attack), Weapon Attack, Weapon Defense, Magic Power and Magic Resistance.

NUMBER

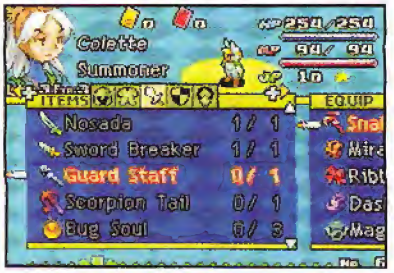
Each member of your clan is assigned a number that represents the order in which he or she joined the clan.

MENU

You can customize a character's stats, equipment, jobs and abilities by using this menu. See the next page for more information.

EQUIP ITEMS

You can outfit your characters in the Equip Items menu. Each character has five slots to fill. Clan members can hold only one weapon, one piece of armor, one helm, and one shield (if applicable), but they can hold multiples of other items. If you have a magic user, for example, you could give him or her a weapon, a piece of armor and three Magic Rings—or five Magic Rings and no weapon or armor! When you scroll through the items, ones that you can equip will appear in red. If you want to see only items that a character can use, press Start at the world map, go to the System menu, select Options and then turn "NonEqpItems?" to Off.



Only certain characters can use certain items. Don't try giving a Knightsword to a Summoner.

Press the R Button while highlighting a weapon to see if it can teach the character a new ability.

PICK ABILITIES

There are four kinds of abilities—Action, Reaction, Support and Combo. Action abilities take a turn to perform and are usually attacks or magic spells. Reaction abilities, such as Catch or Block Arrows, are performed automatically. Support abilities, such as Shieldbearer and Maintenance, automatically give bonuses during battle. And finally, Combo abilities are used in conjunction with other characters to unleash deadly two-pronged attacks. You have two Action-ability slots. One holds abilities specific to your current job, and the other holds abilities that you have mastered in another job.

In the above shot, Marche is learning Steal: Weapon. Once he's mastered it, he can move on to another talent.

As long as you have mastered at least one ability of another job, you can select that job for your second Action Ability slot.

CHANGE JOBS

If you're tired of your current job—or have no more abilities to learn—try switching careers. You can change jobs at any time without incurring a penalty to your stats or experience points, but all of your items will be unequipped.

Your slate of possible jobs will grow as you master abilities in other jobs.

THE JOBLESS RATE

A grayed-out character on the Change Jobs screen means that you aren't ready to learn the job represented by that character. If you highlight a darkened character and press Select, you can see what abilities you must learn to make the job available. You can also check the Jobs section of the guide on pages 24-57.

LEAVE CLAN

Would-be heroes will often try to join your clan after a successful battle, but your clan can have only 23 members at one time. If you are full and find a new member that you can't live without, you'll have to release one of your current members. Note that Marche and Montblanc cannot be dismissed from the clan.

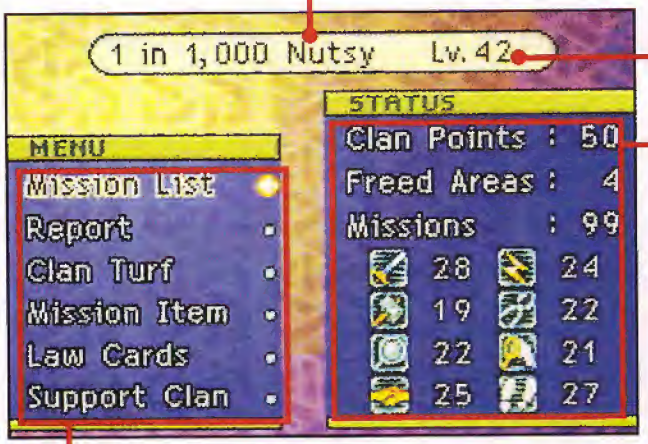
Most characters will be bitter and angry if you let them go. Don't worry—they'll get over it.

THE CLAN

Your clan is your team, or in RPG terms, your party. It is composed of characters you want in the group and numbers no more than 23. The clan (which is called Clan Nutsy by default, but can be named whatever you like) will eventually earn status points in eight areas.

CLAN TITLE

The clan level and clan title are determined by how many successful battles you have under your belt.



CLAN LEVEL

STATUS

Every time you earn 100 Clan Points, one or more of your Clan Skills will rise by one point. The chart to the right shows what the icons mean. You'll earn Clan Points by completing missions and beating other clans in combat.

ICON	SKILL NAME	ICON	SKILL NAME
	Combat		Magic
	Smithing		Craft

Once you've raised a Clan Skill to a certain level, you will receive a bonus item. Check the list on the following page to see what you'll receive and when.

MISSION LIST

If you select the Mission List option, you can check out any of your outstanding missions—including Dispatch Missions from which you're waiting for a member to return. You can learn what the mission is about, what you'll get if you win and how much time you have left (if applicable).

If you want detailed info about an outstanding mission, highlight it and press the A Button.

REPORT

To examine a list of every mission in the game, select the Report option. Completed missions will appear in bright white type, while uncompleted missions appear in dull gray. You won't be able to match a mission name with its number until you've completed the mission.

Three hundred missions are a lot. Keep track of your progress in the Report menu.

CLAN TURF

The Clan Turf menu is the place to go if you want to see how many areas your clan has freed from the control of rival clans. A bright, multicolored icon means that an area is under your control, a gray icon means that it's neutral, and a red icon means that it's under attack. If you don't drive out the attacking clan in a set number of days, you'll lose the area.

ICON	MEANING
	Free and Under Your Control
	Neutral
	Under Attack by an Enemy Clan

Always keep an eye on the number of days you have left to take an area. You'll save money at the shop and pub by owning turf, so take all that you can.

If another clan conquers an area, you'll have to wait until a chance to retake the area appears at the local pub.

MISSION ITEMS

Some missions require your clan to have a certain Mission Item before you can accept them at a pub. Check your clan's Mission Items in the Clan menu. Your clan can hold a total of 64 Mission Items at a time. Highlight a Mission Item and press A to discard it or Select to view its details. When a selected item appears grayed-out in the Mission Items list, the item is being used in a mission. See page 180 for a complete list of Mission Items.

You can discard any Mission Item, but consider carefully whether you will need it before you do.

Press the Select Button to view the description and effect of a highlighted Mission Item.

LAW CARDS & ANTILAW CARDS

After you rescue the mysterious Card Keeper, Ezel Berbier, your clan will be able to use powerful Law and Antilaw cards. Your clan can obtain the cards as mission rewards, or at Ezel's card shop in Cadoan. You can hold a maximum of 20 cards. Law cards supplement the current World Laws for one mission or engagement. Antilaw cards nullify one World Law for one mission or engagement. Use your cards wisely!

You can view your clan's Law and Antilaw cards in the Clan menu. Your clan can own a total of 20 cards, so choose and manage your cards wisely. Highlight a card and press A to discard it, or press Select to view its details. Your clan can trade cards at Ezel Berbier's card shop in Cadoan.

ICON	TYPE
	Law card. Use a Law card during a mission or engagement to add a law to the battle. There must be an open law slot.
	Antilaw card. Use an Antilaw card during a mission or engagement to nullify a law currently in place.

SUPPORT CLANS

When you link your FFTA game with a friend's, you can team up for special head-to-head or co-op missions, and trade items and units. Any clan you've linked up with will be registered as a support clan. You can view each support clan's information in the Clan menu. Each time you link with a support clan, the interaction history between your clan and the support clan will automatically update. When you register a new support clan, Nono's airship will obtain new, rare items for you to buy (see page 13 for a full list of items).

Press A to see a support clan's most recent clan title, clan level, joined battles and records.

The fun comes in three flavors when you link up with a support clan—Team Up, Trade Items and Trade Units.

TRADE INFORMATION

Link up with a friend and open the unique multiplayer features for an even deeper look into Ivalice. (You must listen to the Linking rumor at one of the pubs before the Link option will be available. Clear the The Cheetahs mission to make the rumor appear.) With two copies of FFTA and a GBA Game Link cable, you and a friend can explore a collection of exciting Team Up missions, swap items to strengthen your clans or trade units if you're short on a certain race or job. Linking up is a great way to get your hands on rare items and new clan members, and to help a friend who is starting out in Ivalice.

Press Start on the world map menu and choose Link while your game is connected to a friend's.

In the multiplayer pub, you can choose to team up, trade items or trade units with a friend. You will be asked to save your game before your selected action begins.

TEAM UP MISSIONS

There are two types of Team Up missions: cooperative and competitive. In cooperative missions, you and a friend must work together to complete an objective. In competitive missions, you and a friend go head-to-head to see who can defeat the most enemies. You can obtain rare and powerful items from Team Up missions that you can't find any other way. Mission results are recorded under the support clan info in your Clan menu.

After you link up with a support clan, select a Team Up mission from the multiplayer pub. Consider whether the mission is a competition or a co-op mission.

Team Up missions often have unique rules and co-op missions require serious teamwork. See page 152 for more-detailed information.

TRADE ITEMS

You can trade items between your clan and a support clan by linking up. Trades cost a hefty 5,000 Gil each, and you can trade only one item at a time. Trading is very expensive, so you won't want to trade very often, but it can be a useful service.

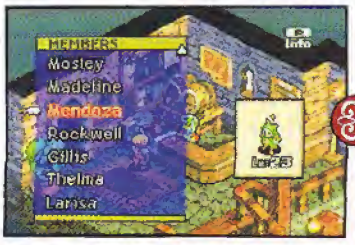
Select whether you want to trade equipment, a Mission Item or a Law card.

Choose the specific item you want to trade, then press the A Button.

All trades cost 5,000 Gil—make sure you have enough funds before you agree to a trade.

TRADE UNITS

You can also link up with a friend to trade units. You must pay 5,000 Gil per unit trade. Trading units is a good way to recruit members of a certain race or job that your clan is short of, and to help boost a clan that is starting out. You can't trade Marche, Montblanc or a few other unique characters.



Select Trade Units from the multiplayer pub menu, then choose the unit you want to trade and press A.

Once a unit trade is complete, both FFTA games will automatically save.

All of a traded unit's equipped items will automatically stay with its original clan.

RACES & JOBS

The races of Ivalice are as colorful and unique as the world they reside in. Race determines a character's possible jobs.

WHAT IS A JOB?

Each race in Ivalice has strengths and weaknesses, and can perform particular jobs that reflect the race's specialties. There are 34 jobs total, separated into Normal jobs and Expert jobs. Expert jobs usually require a character to learn a certain number of Action abilities (A-abilities) from one or two Normal jobs. Try out many job combinations to create unique characters whose job abilities compliment each other. The table to the right provides examples of jobs that are strong in certain statistical areas.

HP	MP	WEAPON ATK
SOLDIER	ILLUSIONIST	FIGHTER
FIGHTER	ANIMIST	WARRIOR
DRAGOON	SAGE	HUNTER
WARRIOR	SUMMONER	GLADIATOR
GLADIATOR	ELEMENTALIST	SNIPER

WEAPON DEF	MAGIC POW	MAGIC RES	SPEED

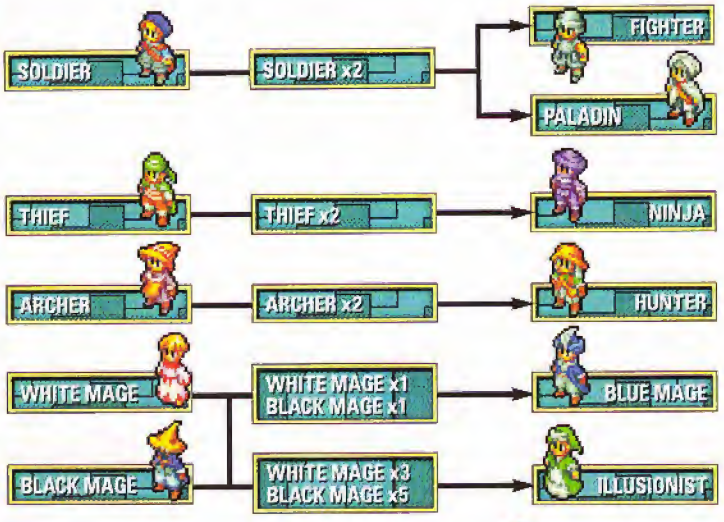
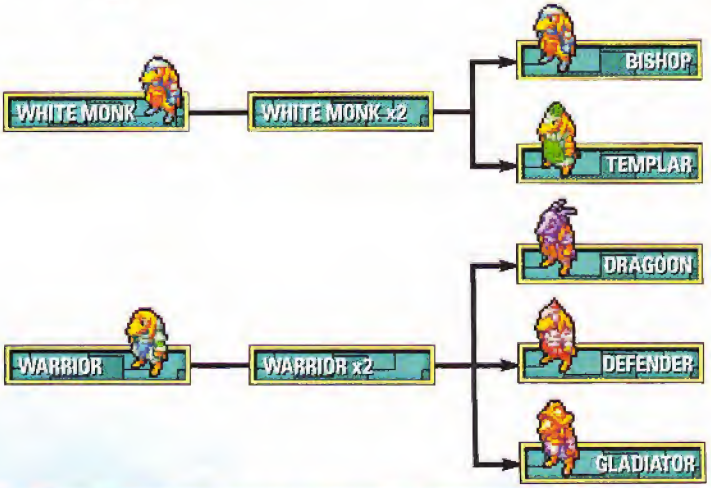
PALADIN	BLUE MAGE	TIME MAGE	NINJA
MOG KNIGHT	SUMMONER	ALCHEMIST	SNIPER
JUGGLER	RED MAGE	GADGETEER	ASSASSIN
GADGETEER	BLACK MAGE	WHITE MAGE	ARCHER

HUMAN

Humans are the most common and most well-rounded race in Ivalice. They have the widest variety of job options, ranging from White Mage to Fighter to Hunter. Additionally, Humans can perform five Expert jobs, a number matched only by the Viera. The only Expert job that Humans share with another race is Illusionist. Humans perform all of their jobs well—the stats for each job are approximately equal.



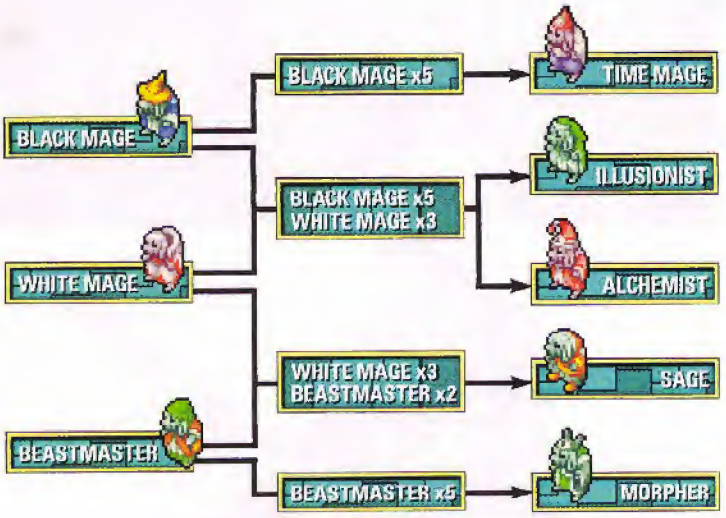


BANGAA

The Bangaa are a fierce and brave lizardlike race (but don't ever call them lizards!) known throughout Ivalice for their gruff attitudes and brute force in battle. Bangaa have characteristically high HP, Weapon Attack and Weapon Defense, but low MP, Magic Power and Magic Resistance. Their jobs reflect their unmatched skill with large weaponry, as well as their strong defense against physical attacks. Bangaa are often the best choice for the frontline of a battle.

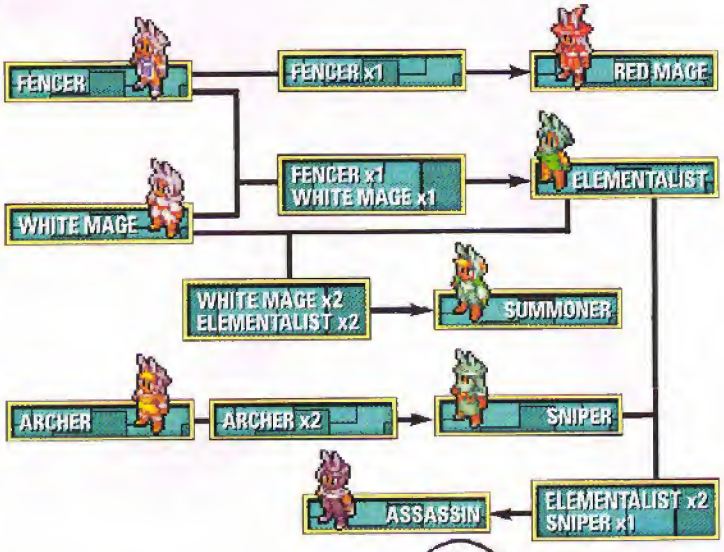
nu mou

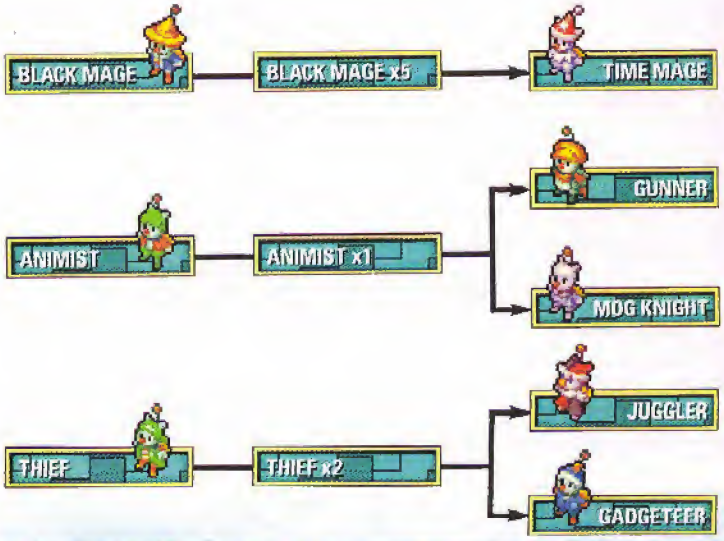
Nu Mou are quiet types and are most comfortable aiding their clan with defensive and offensive magic. Nu Mou jobs encompass some of the strongest magic-based jobs in all of Ivalice. Nu Mou have incredibly high Magic Power, but their Weapon Attack is low. In battle, they prefer to attack enemies from long range. Only Nu Mou can be Alchemists, Morphers and Sages.



VIERA

The Viera are a beautiful and proud female-only race. Their slender forms and long ears heighten their senses and speed. Some in Ivalice even say they can speak to the spirit realm. Mystery and spirituality encompass the Viera and their jobs. Though their Defense is low, Viera agility and finesse are unmatched by any other race. The Viera have five racially unique jobs, all of which focus on elements of speed, spirituality and stealth.





moogle

Moogles are Ivalice's smallest and most mischievous race. They love to play tricks and have fun, which is reflected in their unique Expert jobs. Moogles have high Weapon Defense and Magic Resistance, but their HP, Weapon Attack and Magic Power are low. Even in battle, Moogles are all about bringing colorful fun and trickery to the table with jobs such as Juggler, Gunner and Gadgeteer. Moogles are best suited to long-range combat.

SOLDIER

BATTLE TECH

Soldier is a standard Human job. While Soldiers aren't going to overwhelm anyone with tricky moves, they can rush into a room-clearing melee with the best of them.

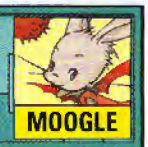
	A ranged combo for Snipers

DOUBLESHOT

Doubleshot lets you hit an enemy twice in the same turn. The attack's damage rate will drop, but you can still do a lot of damage once you reach a high level of experience.

ANIMIST

CALL



Plucky Animists fight by calling on various animals to help them. Animist abilities don't do a ton of damage, but they provide great support in the middle of battles—Cuisine is especially good.

CHROMA GEM

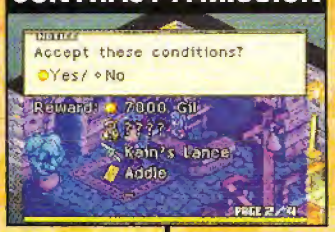
Chroma Gem will put one entire clan to sleep—but you never know which clan it will be! If you want to use a Gadgeteer effectively, place the character on the field with an Alchemist who can cast Astra on your teammates before the Gadgeteer goes to work. Doing so will prevent status ailments in case the ability backfires.

BATTLE STRATEGIES

You'll spend most of your time battling enemies, so take a minute to learn how it's done.

BATTLE FLOW

CONTRACT A MISSION



Before you can fight, you have to contract a mission. (The only exceptions are random battles with other clans—simply engage the other clan on the world map to begin a random battle.) You'll find the vast majority of missions in pubs. Enter the pub and speak to the barkeep, then scroll through the list of available missions. If you see one you like, pay the required amount of Gil for it. Some missions require you to have a special item, so you might have to come back later.

PUBS pg. 12

FIND THE MISSION

Once you've purchased a mission, you must go to the location where it takes place. (If you don't know where an engagement is supposed to occur, check the Missions section of the guide.) When you arrive, a screen with the mission title on it will pop up—highlight the mission and press the A Button to start the battle. Sometimes you will have to encounter a clan on the world map instead of going to a location—such clans appear in blue instead of the standard red.

ENGAGEMENTS pg. 59

PREPARE FOR BATTLE

As soon as you start a mission, you'll have a chance to select up to six combatants from your clan. This is the most important part of the battle! It's your chance to check out the battlefield, change equipped items and abilities, look at the current laws and plan your strategy. Do enemies have items that you want to steal? Are any of your A-abilities outlawed? Which is the most dangerous foe? Get all of your questions out of the way BEFORE you start fighting.

UNIT SELECTION pg. 59

FIGHT!

Once you've assembled a crack team, it's time to take it to the enemy! The battle system in FFTA is by no means a one-hit button masher—there are lots of idiosyncrasies that can make a huge difference in a tough fight. As you get in a few battles, however, you'll pick up on the combat system in no time. Consult page 60 for all the details on fighting like a pro. (If a battle is too much for you, you can always flee. Press the Start Button without having a character selected to bring up the Flee option.)

THE BATTLE SYSTEM pg. 60

COLLECT THE SPOILS

After you complete a mission, you'll be rewarded with Gil, AP, CP (if applicable) and items. After you get a few missions under your belt, you'll also start to receive Law and Antilaw cards. There are exceptions: Some missions have smaller rewards attached (no Gil, for example), and you'll sometimes be forced to forfeit part of your reward for breaking the law.

REWARDS pg. 66

ENGAGEMENTS

There are three kinds of engagements. For area-specific ones, you must contract a mission and then go to a certain location. For roving ones, you must contract a mission and then engage a blue-colored clan on the world map. Random battles are not missions as such; they are simply fights against other clans. You'll get a reward for a random battle, but it usually won't be a rare item or tons of Gil.

AREA-SPECIFIC

Walk to the location of the mission, highlight it and press the A Button once the menu pops up.

ROVING

Track down the blue clan and engage it. If you fail, the clan will vanish until you purchase the mission anew.

RANDOM

Bump into a red-colored unit to start a random fight. Red units vanish after seven days.

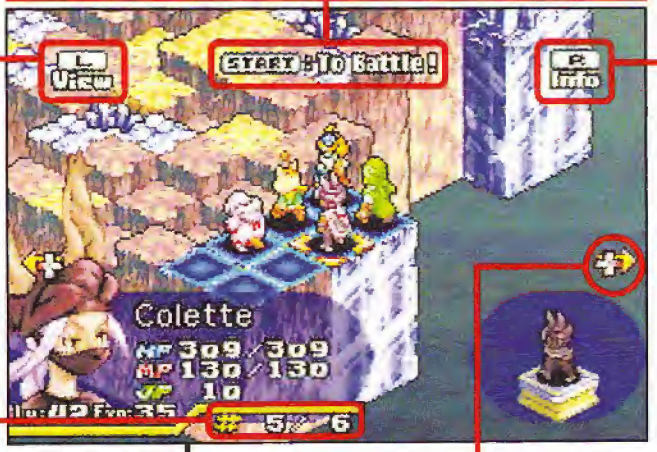
UNIT SELECTION

START

The battle won't begin until you press the Start Button—and even then you'll have one last chance to back out. Make sure that all is right with the world before you engage.

L VIEW THE MAP

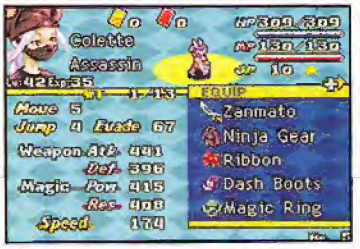
You can view the entire map by pressing the L Button and using the Control Pad. You can also move the cursor onto enemy units and press the A Button to see their abilities and items—very handy for Thieves!



CLAN MEMBERS

The number at the bottom of the screen refers to the number of clan members you can bring. For example, when the number is 5/6, it means you have picked five clan members, but can pick a total of six.

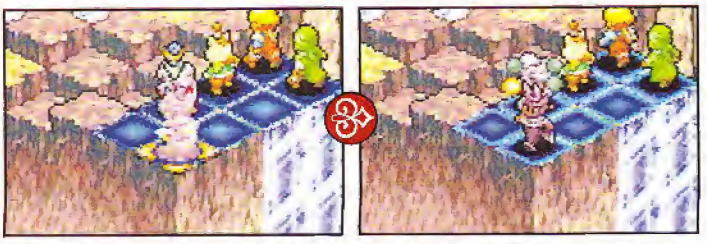
R VIEW INFO



When you have a unit ready to go, press the R Button to bring up his or her information. You'll have a chance to change the character's equipment and abilities, if you so desire.

PUSH SELECT

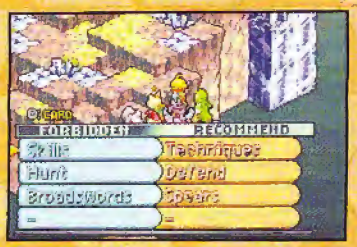
+ A POSITION A UNIT



You can place a unit on any blue square. Move the Control Pad to choose the square you want, then press the A Button to set a unit there. Once it's down, use the Control Pad to determine which direction he or she will face. You can back out at any time by pressing the B Button.

CHECK THE LAW

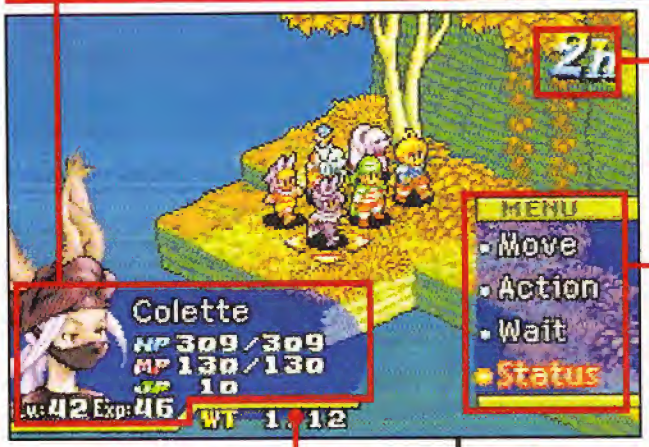
Check the current laws at any time by pressing the Select Button. If there's a law you don't like, you must wait until the start of battle to play a Law or Antilaw card.



VIEWING THE BATTLE SCREEN

STATUS

The status box lists a character's HP, MP, Judge Points, level of experience and number of Experience Points. Note that EP isn't a running tally of total game experience. Once your EP reaches 100, you'll gain a level and the meter will start over at zero.



HEIGHT

Height is the terrain elevation at the location where the cursor is currently placed.

ACTION MENU

Move lets you position the selected clan member, Action lets you attack or use an ability, Wait ends your turn and Status brings up the character's Status menu.

UNIT NUMBER

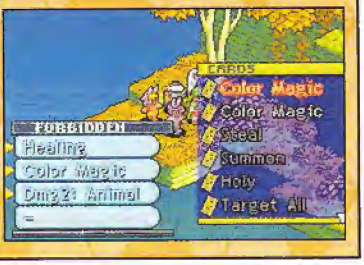
The left number is the unit's turn order. (A 1, for example, means you can act right away; a 4 means you must wait for three other people.) The right number represents the total number of units on the battlefield.

PUSH B

PUSH START

LAW AND ANTILAW CARDS

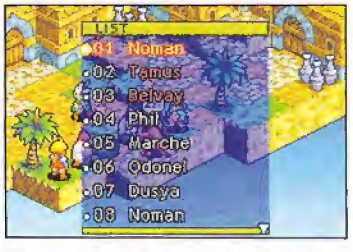
To access the Start menu, press the B Button until there is no cursor on the screen, then press Start. Once there, you can choose to use a Law or Antilaw card. The card will be played immediately and does not count as a character's action. The Start menu is the only place to check on laws once a battle has started.



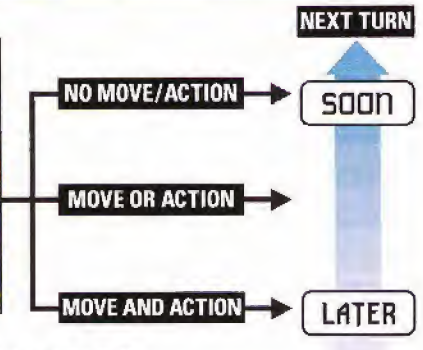
TURN ORDER

At the beginning of a skirmish, a character's Speed determines his or her turn order. As the battle continues, the order will change depending on what actions a character takes. If you don't move or take an action, your turn will come very soon. If you move or perform an action, you'll wait a little bit. If you both move and perform an action, you'll have to wait even longer. It is possible to alter the turn order by using magic spells—usually the Time Mage's A-abilities.

You can alter a character's Speed by equipping him or her with certain items.



You can check the turn order for both friends and foes in the Start menu.

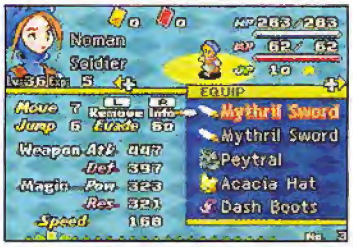


ABILITIES THAT CHANGE THE TURN ORDER

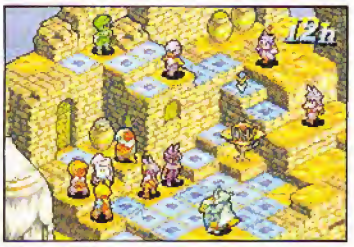
ABILITY	EFFECT
HASTE	Increases a target's Speed
QUICKEN	Lets the target take the next turn
SPEEDBREAK	Reduces a target's Speed
SLOW	Reduces a target's Speed
STOP	Stops time for a target, rendering it unable to act

MOVING AND JUMPING

A character's Move and Jump ratings determine his or her movement and jumping talents. Some jobs, such as the Ninja, receive automatic bonuses to the stats, but other jobs can receive a penalty.



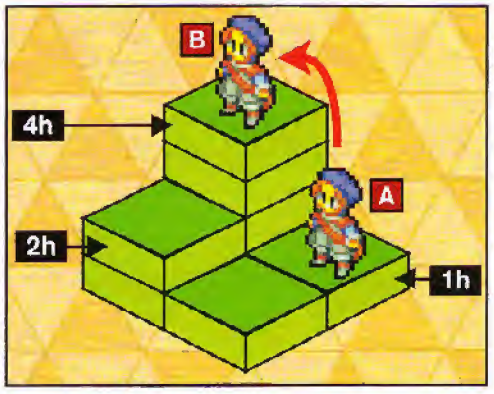
Many items, especially footwear, will influence your Move and Jump Ratings.



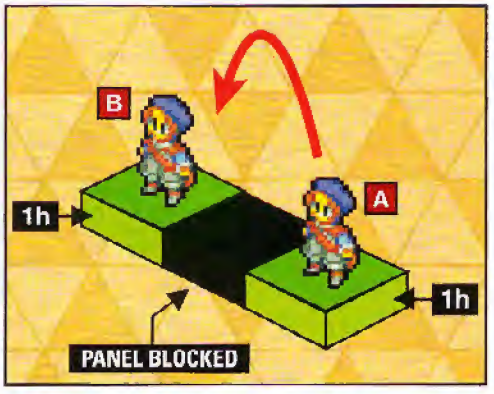
Jumping is very important for maps with varying terrain elevations—such as mountains and towns.

There are some places where no unit can go, such as lava or a space occupied by an object.

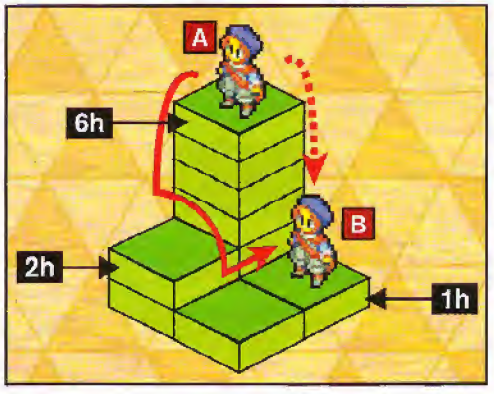
EXAMPLES OF MOVEMENT



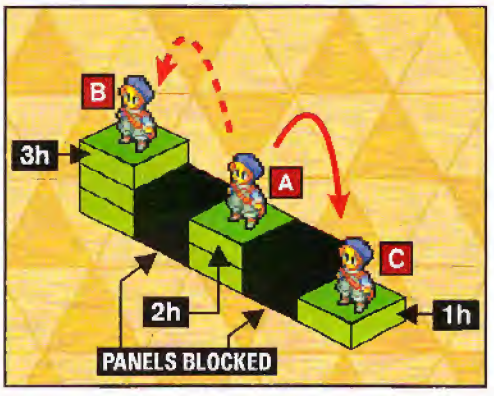
Assuming that the unit has a Jump rating of 3, he can leap directly from point A to point B. If he had a Jump rating of 2, he would have to walk around to the 2h location and jump from there to point B.



If the unit wants to move to a location that is at the same elevation as his current location, jumping is not required. This is true even if the unit must leap over a panel that is blocked by lava, water or some other impediment.



When our unit with a Jump rating of 3 wants to get down from the four-tiered block, he must jump to the 2h location and then walk to Point B. If he had a Jump Rating of 4 or higher, he could leap down to B directly. Remember that it's easier to jump down than up.

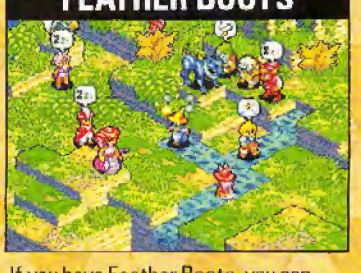


While a unit with a Jump rating of 3 can move from A to C with no trouble, no unit can move from A to B. It's not possible to jump over a blocked square to a level higher than your current elevation. If all of this seems really complicated, don't worry—in battle, you can just click on your clan members to see how far they can go.

CHANGING MOVE AND JUMP RATINGS WITH ITEMS

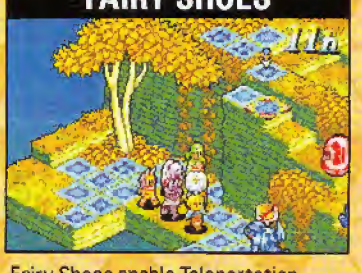
Some items will give you an extra boost on the battlefield. Dash Boots, Feather Boots and Fairy Shoes are just a few examples of items that influence Move and Jump ratings. Dash Boots increase your Move rating, while Feather Boots improve your Move rating and also let you stand on water. Move and Jump ratings are important, especially for slower characters like Bangaa. Since most of their A-abilities require you to be near your target, you'll often spend the first couple of turns just getting within range if you don't have high marks in both categories.

FEATHER BOOTS



If you have Feather Boots, you can walk on water and perform an action.

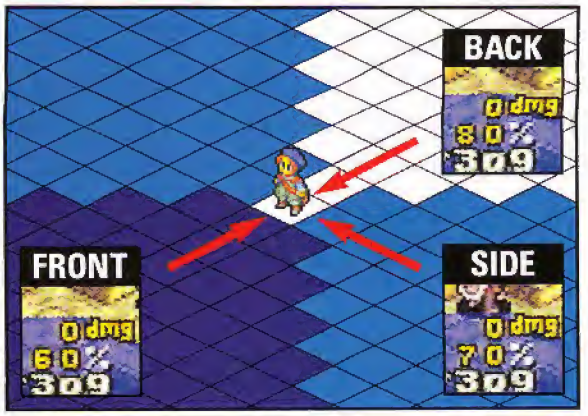
FAIRY SHOES



Fairy Shoes enable Teleportation—allowing a character to treat every square as if it had no elevation.

DIRECTION AND HIT RATE

After you complete a turn, you will be required to turn your character in one of four directions. The direction a character faces directly affects his or her Hit Rate—which is the chance of landing a successful hit. If you attack from behind, you'll receive a large bonus to your Hit rating. Attacking from the side gives you a small bonus, while striking from the front gives no bonus at all. The same applies to enemies that are attacking you.



STATUS AILMENTS THAT INFLUENCE HIT RATING

Some status ailments will increase or decrease a character's Hit rating. It's important to know your Hit rating, especially if you want to steal something from an enemy. The higher the rating, the better your chances of swiping the booty. Note that the examples to the right apply to you, too—so if you are put to sleep, blinded or stopped, watch out!

SLEEP

If you strike an enemy that has been put to sleep, the Hit rating will be 100 percent.

DARKNESS

An enemy that is blinded will suffer penalties to both its Hit and Evade stats.

STOP

If you strike an enemy that has been stopped, your Hit rating will be 100 percent.

FIGHTING WITH WEAPONS

You will gain experience every time you perform an action successfully—be it striking an enemy, healing a party member or using an item. To that end, try to perform an action on every turn, even if it means casting Cura on someone who has full health or raising the Defense of someone who doesn't need it.

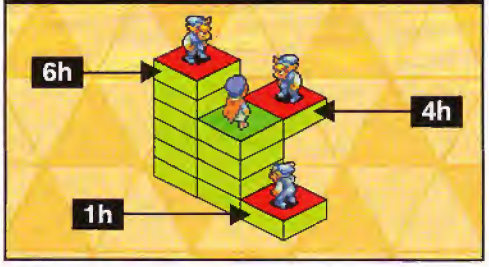
CRITICAL HIT AND KNOCK BACK

There are two special conditions that can occur when you strike an enemy with a weapon—the Critical Hit and the Knock Back. A Critical Hit deals more damage than usual, while a Knock Back actually forces an enemy backward one square. (If the enemy happens to fall from a high place, it will suffer even more damage.) Both occurrences happen at random with normal attacks, but some A-abilities can cause the conditions or simply raise the probabilities of their occurrence.

The Fighter ability Rush will cause a Knock Back every time.

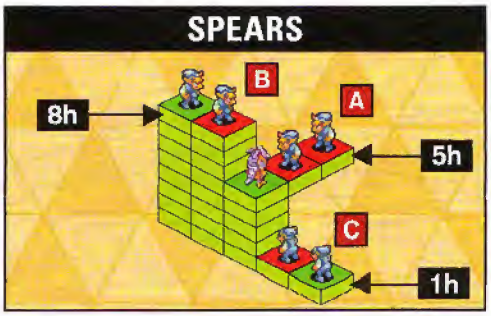
WEAPON RANGE

SWORDS

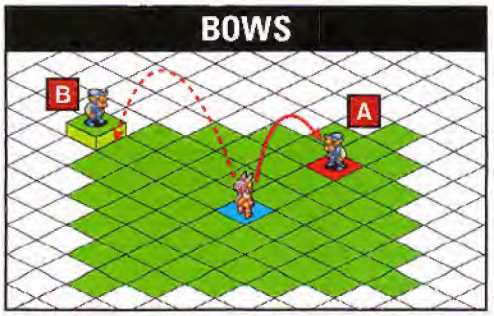


When attacking with a sword, you can hit anyone who is at your elevation and within one square. You can also reach enemies up to two squares above and three squares below. (You cannot attack diagonally.)

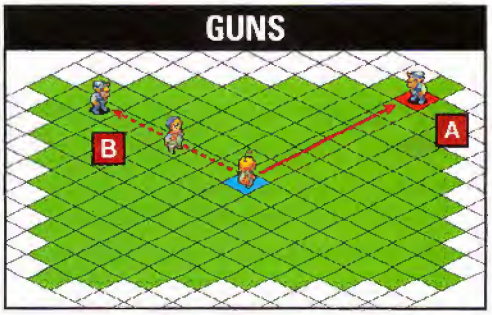
RANGE AND EFFECT AREA



When attacking with a spear, you can hit two enemies at your elevation, as long as they are in a straight line and standing next to each other. You can also strike enemies up to three squares above and four squares below you, but you won't be able to get a two-for-one hit.



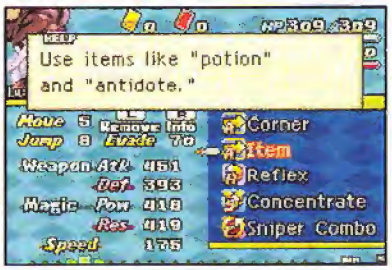
Bows can hit enemies from a distance, but they are limited by elevation. If your bow has a range of 5, for example, you can hit the target at point A but not the one at point B. Since the target at B is one level higher than you, it counts as an extra square—making it six squares away and out of range.



Guns have the longest range of any weapon, but unlike arrows, bullets can't fly over one character to hit a different one. In the above illustration, the target at point B is blocked, which means the unit standing between the Gunner and the target will take the damage.

FIGHTING WITH ABILITIES

Abilities are separated into four types; A-abilities, R-abilities, S-abilities and C-abilities. They are usually your most powerful attacks, and you'll learn them by equipping weapons, armor and (occasionally) other items. The more abilities a character knows, the more powerful he or she becomes—so learn as many as you can.



Item is an A-ability that everyone knows. If you want to use an item in battle, you must select Item as your second A-ability. (The Alchemist can use items without selecting Item as an ability.)

A-ABILITIES

Action abilities are offensive and defensive moves, and must be used during a turn. Each character can have two different A-ability types active at a time. One must be for the unit's current job, but the other can be from any other job the unit has mastered.

R-ABILITIES

Reaction abilities are always active and will engage automatically when necessary. Catch, for example, lets you catch a thrown weapon. If you do so, it will not count as an action or a turn.

S-ABILITIES

Support abilities (such as Turbo MP) usually add to your offensive and defensive power. Others, such as Shieldbearer, allow you to do something that you couldn't do without the ability equipped.

C-ABILITIES

Combo abilities are always learned from Mythril weapons and require both a second person and Judge Points to pull off. Most combos do a large amount of damage.

MASTERING ABILITIES

EQUIP AN ITEM WITH A LEARNABLE ABILITY

Pick a weapon or item that teaches your current job an ability and equip it.

↓

COLLECT AP

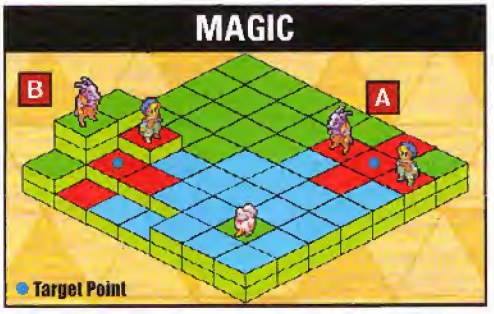
AP is distributed equally among abilities you're learning. So if you are mastering two abilities and gain 40 AP, both get 40 AP.

↓

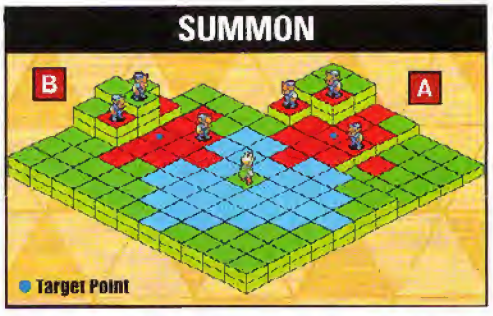
MASTER THE ABILITY

Once you gain the proper amount of AP (usually 100-300), you will master the ability and be able to unequip the weapon or item.

RANGES AND EFFECT AREAS



Most White, Red and Black Magic affects both the square that is targeted and a square to the north, south, east and west. In the case of point A, both targets would be affected. In the case of point B, however, the uppermost target is too high for the spell to work on him.



Summon spells cover a very large area and are effective up to two squares above and below the targeted elevation. The topmost unit at point B, however, is unaffected because he is too high for the spell to reach.

COMBOS

All Combo Abilities (or C-abilities) are learned from Mythril weapons and are designed to be used in tandem with other clan members on the battlefield. When a single unit uses a combo, it results in a decent attack—but if any other clan members know a combo and are within range, they can all join in to create a devastating attack. It's not necessary for everyone to know the same combo—a Black Mage can start a combo, then a Juggler and Time Mage can join in. The only requirements are C-ability knowledge and sufficient Judge Points. Only the unit that initiates the combo will be charged Judge Points—other units can join free of charge.

If units flash white when one person starts a combo, they can join in the attack.

The more participants you have, the more effective the maneuver will be.

TOTEMAS

You will earn Totemas by completing certain main missions. Each Totema is connected to a race, and only someone from that race can call it into combat (jobs are irrelevant). When a Totema is summoned, it will appear in the sky and deal a tremendous amount of damage to all enemies on the field. Totemas cost 10 JP to use.

The Totema's Hit rating is always 100 percent. Try to save them for the hardest battles.

STATUS AILMENTS AND ENHANCEMENTS

Status ailments and enhancements can sway the battle in your favor or give your enemies the edge. All status ailments restrict the target's actions and/or movement in some way. Status enhancements raise the target's stats or offer special protection (such as Auto-Raise). Some status ailments and enhancements last until the end of the battle, while others last for only a short period of time. You can cure most status ailments with items or spells. You will be penalized for using status ailments and some enhancements when the law forbids Status (see the Law column in the chart below).

Status ailments and enhancements will influence the progress of every battle. You can render your enemies completely harmless with many status ailments such as Darkess and Petrification, or boost your allies with status enhancements such as Defense.

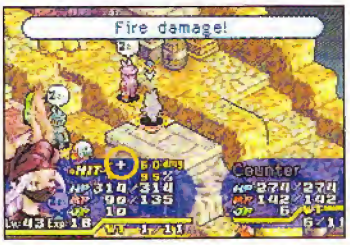
ELEMENTAL ATTRIBUTES

Some of the equipment you'll come across in Ivalice is imbued with elemental attributes. There are eight elemental attributes that you could find attached to items: Dark, Earth, Fire, Holy, Ice, Lightning, Water and Wind. Elements add a deep level of strategy to each battle. Check your equipment by pressing Select to see how an item is affected by each elemental attribute. See the chart below for an explanation of each abbreviation. You can use elemental attributes in battle to give your units the edge, or even heal them.

ABSB	The item will absorb the attack and turn the damage into HP.
NULL	The item will nullify the attack—no damage will be done.
HALF	The item will reduce by half the damage done by the attack.
NORM	An elemental attack will cause full, normal damage.
WEAK	An elemental attack will cause extra damage.

ENHN	An elemental attack will be stronger than usual against all enemies.

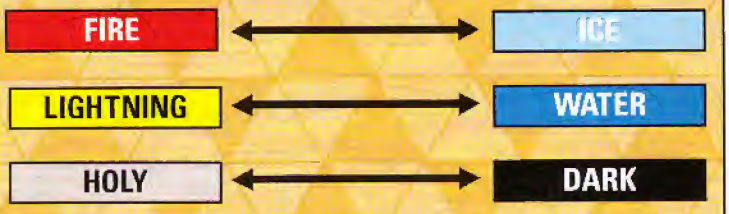
Highlight an item and press Select to check the item's natural attribute and tolerance. Some items will absorb attacks of the same element.

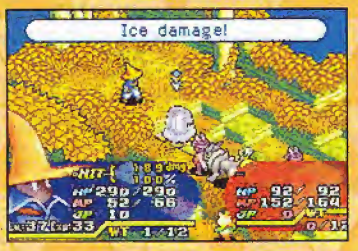


Check natural attributes and resistances of enemies. If you see a "+" by the hit damage, the spell or ability will heal the target, not harm it.

MONSTER ELEMENTAL ATTRIBUTES

Most monsters belong to one of six different elemental attributes: Dark, Fire, Holy, Ice, Lightning and Water. A monster's attribute is decided by its race. A monster's element is apparent by its color (see the chart below). When fighting a monster that has an elemental attribute, always attack with the opposite element—the same element as the monster will heal it. For example, if you use Blizzard on an Ice Flan, you will heal its HP, but if you use Fire it will do heavy damage.



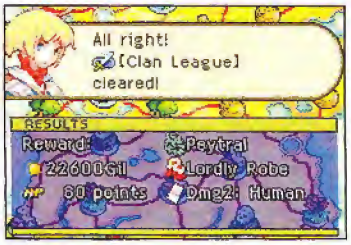


Determine what elemental attributes enemy monsters are, and use the opposite magic against them.

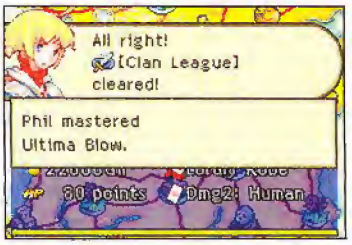
Holy magic normally heals its target, but it causes heavy damage to Dark-attribute creatures such as Zombies.

MISSION REWARDS

Your clan wins rewards for each mission you complete. You will always get Gil and AP, but you could also win Mission Items, Law cards, Antilaw cards and equipment. Many of the rewards are random. You will always win the items you see in the mission info at the Pub when you contract the mission, but you will sometimes win other things in addition to the advertised rewards. Completing missions is the best way to strengthen your clan with the equipment and AP its members need to learn new abilities. The Gil you win from completing missions will help fund new mission contracts and the purchase of equipment for new units.



Sometimes the random item you win for completing a mission will be a rare or powerful item. Do missions often!



AP enables your clan members to master job abilities. You get the most AP by freeing areas under attack.

NEW UNIT SEEKS MEMBERSHIP!

You can recruit up to 24 units in your clan (counting Marche). New units will occasionally approach you seeking membership after your clan completes a mission. New units will not seek membership unless you have at least one open spot, so carefully consider which new units you accept and decline. Newcomers aren't armed, but sometimes one who has learned some abilities or an expert job will approach you.

New units will seek membership in your clan randomly (if you have openings) after you complete missions.

Sometimes a unit who has already learned some abilities will ask to join. You should recruit those units!

DISPATCH MISSIONS

WHERE	Any pub
REQUIREMENTS	Tonberry Lamp (used), Craft (Lvl. 10)

For each Dispatch mission, you'll send out one member of your party—you don't actually control the unit in a fight or ever see a battlefield. Since you don't see your enemies, there's not a lot of info for Dispatch missions, but you'll find everything that is possible to know in boxes like the one to the left.

THE MAIN MISSION CHART

You must complete the Main Missions in the order shown to the right. In between, you can take on Dispatch missions and Subquests and also fight random battles with rival clans. The right-hand column shows which Law Sets are in effect for each group of missions. (See page 11 for a complete list of laws and the penalties for breaking them.)

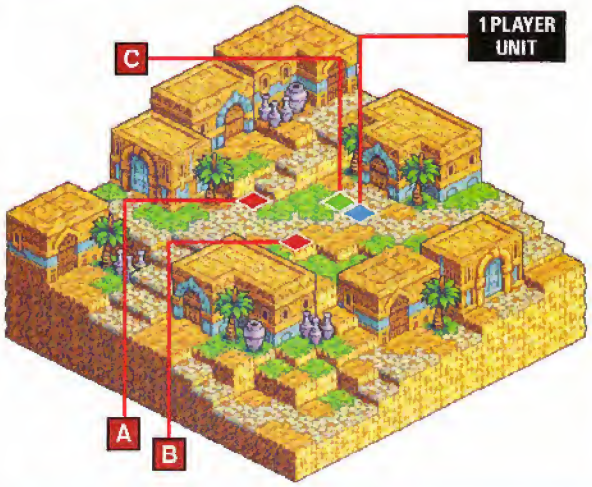
MISSION — RANK—	LIZARD MEN!?	CYRIL
REQUIREMENTS	Clear Snowball Fight.
OBJECTIVE	Defeat all enemies!
REWARDS	Sprohm

Your first fight in the world of Ivalice is a simple engagement against a pair of Bangaa. Remember that many rewards, especially items, are random—we list only the rewards that you are assured of getting.



RECOMMENDED JOB

Marche is your only option in this battle. Montblanc will help you by casting spells, but you won't have any control over his actions. If you get in trouble, use Marche's First Aid skill.

JOB	ABILITY
Soldier	First Aid

RECOMMENDED LAW

The law in this battle prohibits the use of items. Since you don't have any items when the battle begins, you don't need to worry about the law.

B WHITE MONK	Level 1

C BLACK MAGE	Level 4 (Montblanc)

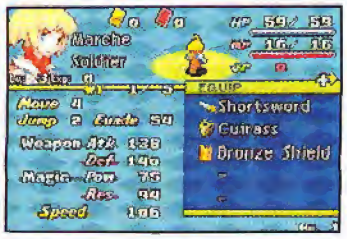
ATTACK FROM BEHIND

Marche is a pretty tough cookie for a new arrival. Try to get to the front or the side of your enemies before attacking them with your sword. You'll have a much better chance of landing a hit and doing extra damage if you don't attack head-on.

Make sure that you check your Hit rating and Damage rating before you complete an attack. The two stats appear in yellow next to your character's picture after you have selected a target to attack.

THE JOB FOR YOU

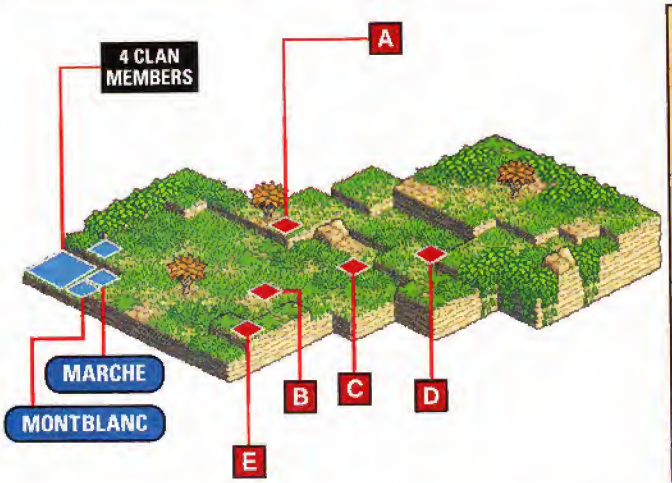
After the battle Montblanc will join your team, and you'll get to begin tinkering with your characters. You can switch jobs right off the bat if you want, but you should probably leave Marche as a Soldier and Montblanc as a Black Mage until they master some skills.



There's no sense in changing a job unless you have equipment that will teach you abilities for another job.

MISSION 001 RANK 3	HERB PICKING	GIZA PLAINS
REQUIREMENTS	Contract the mission then move to Giza Plains.
OBJECTIVE	Defeat all enemies!
REWARDS	600 Gil, 40 AP, Lutia Pass icon

Herb Picking, your first contracted mission, will introduce you to battling under the constraints of World Laws. Send out a well-balanced group from your clan and practice your tactics on the monsters.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

Monsters are tough, so dispatch a White Mage to heal your units and a Warrior and Soldier to do the damage. Disable your enemies with your Animist's Sheep Count ability and your Archer's Blackout ability.

JOB	ABILITY
Animist	Sheep Count
Archer	Blackout
Soldier	First Aid
Thief	Steal: Gil
Warrior	First Aid
White Mage	Cure

RECOMMENDED LAWS

Avoid engaging your enemy if the mission is governed by Fight, Swords, Knives, Missile or Instruments laws. Any other laws shouldn't pose a problem. There are no laws that will really give you an advantage during the mission.

SURPRISE THE SPRITE

Throughout your many encounters in Ivalice, you'll run into monsters of varying difficulty. Sprites have low Defense and HP, but their Evasion is very high. To take down a Sprite or a Fairy, attack it from behind or with missiles.

In addition to being able to evade physical attacks very well, Sprites and Fairies have a high resistance to all status ailments. Don't waste your time trying to put the flying monsters to sleep or poisoning them. One or two strong attacks from behind them should finish them off.

SHEEP COUNT THEM OUT

Have one of your clan's Animists cast Sheep Count on your enemies to put them to sleep, then pick them off one by one. When enemies are asleep, your chance of landing an attack on them rises since they can't evade you.

Putting your enemies to sleep makes them easier to attack, but attacking a sleeping enemy wakes it up. Before you awaken a sleeping enemy, make sure you can take it out before it fights back.

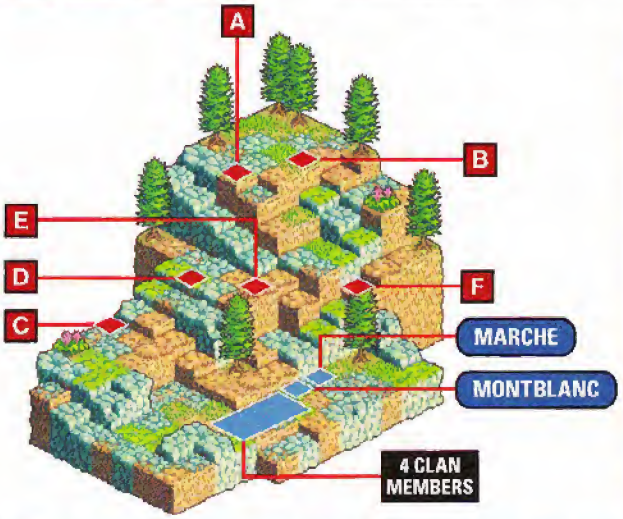
MISSION 002 THESIS HUNT

BANK 3

LUTIA PASS

REQUIREMENTS	Contract the mission then move to Lutia Pass.
OBJECTIVE	Defeat all enemies!
REWARDS	4,000 Gil, 40 AP, 100 CP, Nubswood icon

It's up to your clan to recover a stolen thesis. The enemies are stationed around the mountaintop, ready for a battle. Wait for your foes to climb down from their perches, then rush in and take them down. Always take out White Mages first!



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

Choose at least one White Mage to keep your units standing, one Archer to blind the enemy and one Soldier to deal the damage—the rest are up to you. Beware Thief B's Counter ability.

JOB	ABILITY
Animist	Sheep Count
Archer	Blackout
Black Mage	Fire
Soldier	First Aid

White Mage	Cure

RECOMMENDED LAWS

Avoid engaging your enemy under World Laws that forbid any weapon-types other than Knives. A law that forbids Knives could be advantageous because it would disable the enemy Thieves.

LET THE ENEMIES COME TO YOU

Many areas of Ivalice are in the mountains and hills, where enemies on higher ground will have a tactical advantage. Wait for your enemies to climb to lower elevations, then surround them and attack.

When enemies climb down from higher elevations, they usually don't all come at once. As each enemy unit descends, surround it with your units; take your foes out one by one.

INDIRECT ATTACKS

Thieves often have the Counter ability, which enables them to counterattack anyone who strikes them from closeby. Risking a counterattack is dangerous. Instead, attack Thieves from a distance with magic or arrows.

Have one of your clan's Archers use his or her Blackout ability to blind the enemy. An enemy that would normally counterattack is very unlikely to land a physical blow when blind you can attack freely without worry of repercussion.

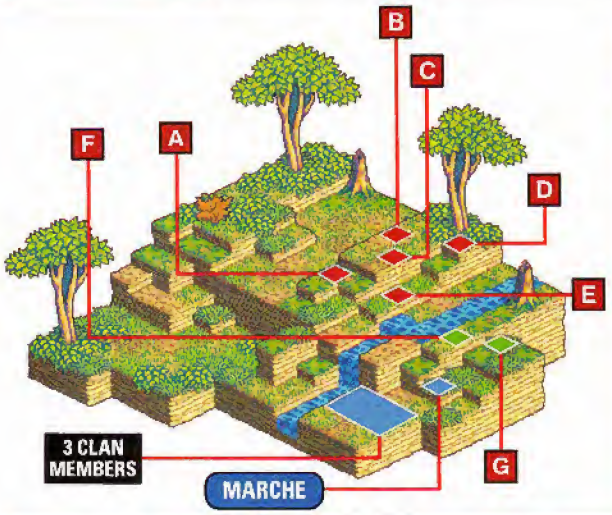
MISSION 003
RANK 3

THE CHEETAHS

NUBSWOOD

REQUIREMENTS	Contract the mission and move to Nubswood.
OBJECTIVE	Defeat all enemies!
REWARDS	6,000 Gil, 40 AP, 100 CP, Eluut Sands icon

Marche will encounter Ritz for the first time in Ivalice on the The Cheetahs mission—you must battle alongside Ritz and her friend Shara to defeat the enemies. Ritz's Reflex ability renders her invulnerable to all physical attacks, so don't worry about her getting hurt.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

Since you are fighting alongside Ritz and Shara during the mission, you can dispatch only three clan members. Choose units that will best complement Marche and Ritz in the battle, such as Animist.

JOB	ABILITY
Animist	Sheep Count
Archer	Aim: Legs
Soldier	First Aid
White Mage	Cure

RECOMMENDED LAWS

Ritz uses a Rapier and Shara uses a Bow (a Missile-type weapon), so avoid the Fight, Missile, Rapiers and Swords laws. Other laws won't hinder your victory too greatly.

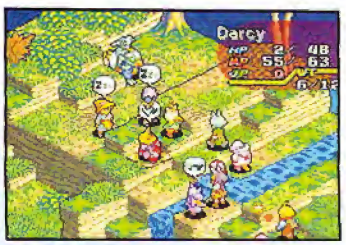
TAKE OUT THE BLACK MAGE FIRST

Ritz's Reflex ability makes her impervious to physical attacks, but offensive magic can damage her. The enemy has a Black Mage in its ranks. Defeat the Black Mage quickly to prevent Ritz from taking damage from his spells.



The enemy Black Mage will keep his distance, as any smart mage would. Use an Animist to cast Sheep Count on the Black Mage, then take out the snoozing caster.

STOP THE FIGHTER!

Fighters have incredibly high Attack ratings and they are dangerous to tangle with in close combat. Have one of your clan's Archers use their Aim: Legs ability on the enemy Fighter to disable his movement so he can't go after one of your weaker units.

After you stop the enemy Fighter from moving, attack him from a safe distance with magic and missiles. It's the safest way to deal with enemy units who have a strong Weapon Attack.

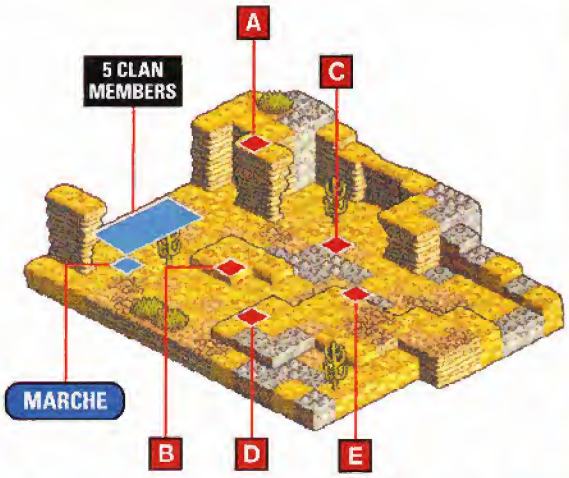
MISSION 004 DESERT PERIL

RANK 3

ELUUT SANDS

REQUIREMENTS	Contract the mission and move to Eluut Sands.
OBJECTIVE	Defeat all enemies!
REWARDS	7,000 Gil, 40 AP, 100 CP, Ulei River icon

Your clan will venture into the arid Eluut Sands in Desert Peril. The boss, a Cream, is the only enemy you really need to worry about. He has very high Weapon Defense and his Thunder magic is powerful.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

You'll need a hefty Attack rating to defeat the Cream. Its Weapon Defense is very strong, so dispatch one of your clan's Black Mages to ensure victory. Your other units should balance attack, healing and defense.

JOB	ABILITY
Animist	Sheep Count
Archer	Blackout
Black Mage	Fire

RECOMMENDED LAWS

All of the Cream's moves are Thunder-based, so entering the mission with a World Law that forbids Thunder will completely disable it.

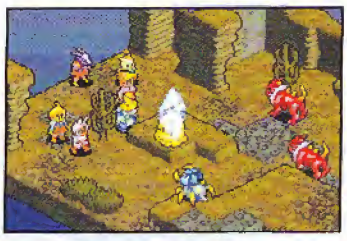
DEFEAT THE CREAM WITH MAGIC!

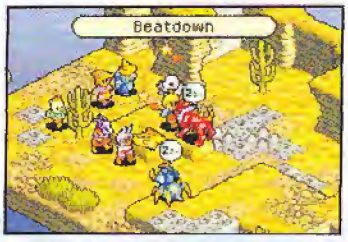
The Cream has a formidable Weapon Defense, but its Magic Resistance is quite low. Use one of your clan's Black Mages to wear down the Cream with powerful offensive magic—you'll end up the victor with little effort!



The Cream is a Thunder-attribute monster, so it will absorb Thunder-type magic. If you use Thunder magic, it will heal the Cream instead of hurt it. Instead of Thunder, use your Black Mage's Fire- and Ice-magic spells.

BEATDOWN AFTER SLEEP

The Fighter ability Beatdown delivers a high-damage, low-accuracy attack. If you couple Beatdown with a sleeping spell, such as Sheep Count, Beatdown's accuracy will rise to 100%. It's a surefire way to knock out most enemies with one hit!



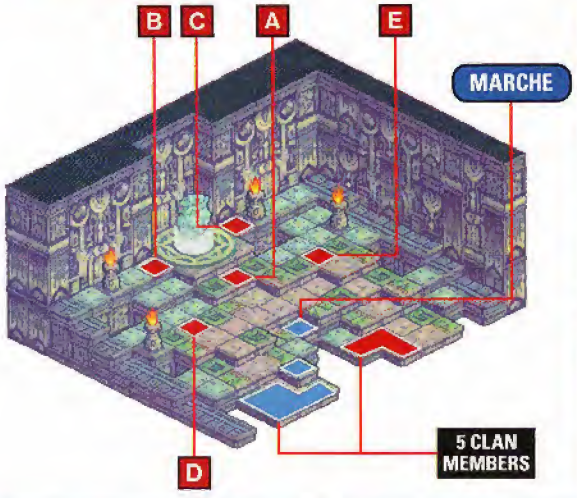
Animists learn the incredibly useful Sheep Count spell by equipping the Glass Bell. Get one of your clan's Animists to learn Sheep Count as early as possible. Not only does it put enemies to sleep, rendering them helpless, but it's a great indirect way to boost the accuracy of physical attacks.

MISSION 005 RANK 3 — TWISTED FLOW

ULEI RIVER

REQUIREMENTS	Contract the mission then move to Ulei River.
OBJECTIVE	Defeat the boss!
REWARDS	8,000 Gil, 80 AP, CP 100, Cadoan icon

Twisted Flow is your clan's first encounter with one of Ivalice's crystal guardians, the Totema. Famfrit is the Moogle Totema and one of the easiest to defeat. Focus your attacks on Famfrit; you'll destroy the first crystal in no time.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

Send out a well-balanced group of clan members to face Famfrit and its guards. Most importantly, bring a White Mage with the Life spell to resurrect any fallen clan members and an Animist to lull your enemies to sleep.

JOB	ABILITY
Animist	Sheep Count
Black Mage	Blizzara
Dragoon	Jump
Fighter	Beatdown

RECOMMENDED LAWS

Avoid entering the battle with Famfrit when the World Laws forbid Fight, Swords, Knives, Missile or Instruments. Any other laws won't hinder your success as greatly.

THE ROULETTE OF DOOM

One Ahriman guard has a spell called Roulette. If Roulette lands on one of your characters, it will instantly knock him or her out. The best solution is to take out the creature immediately so it doesn't have a chance to cast the spell.

Defeat the Ahriman with the Roulette ability early in the battle by using units that have high Attack power, such as a Fighter or a Black Mage. Use your White Mage to cast Life on any units who are KO'd.

MESMERIZE THE MASSES

If you defeat Famfrit, you'll automatically win the battle, regardless of how many enemies are still standing. Use an Animist to cast Sheep Count on as many of the enemies as you can, then focus your attacks on Famfrit for a quick victory.

Taking out Famfrit is the quickest and easiest way to end the battle, but you won't gain a lot of Experience Points for attacking a single character. If you're concerned about leveling up your clan members, attack the guards first, and eliminate the Totema as a last step.

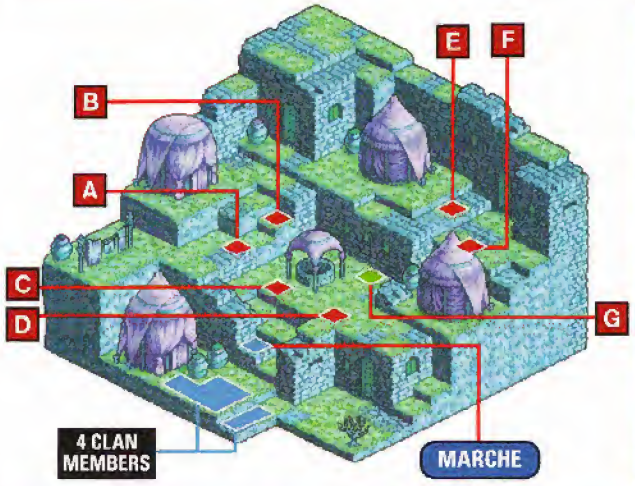
CADOAN

REQUIREMENTS	After you meet Ezel Berbier in Cadoan, enter Cadoan once more.
OBJECTIVE	Defeat all enemies!
REWARDS	9,000 Gil, 40 AP, 100 CP, Aisenfield icon

After Marche meets Ezel Berbier in Cadoan for the second time, you'll need to help the fugitive escape from the royal guards who have come to arrest him. If you succeed, he'll teach you about Antilaw and Law cards. He'll also tell you about his secret card shop.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

It's crucial that you keep Ezel safe. Dispatch a Paladin or Defender to guard him and an Archer to cast Aim: Arm. If Ezel is captured, you will lose the battle. Defend him at all costs!

JOB	ABILITY

Black Mage	Blizzara

RECOMMENDED LAWS

Avoid entering the battle when laws that forbid Aim and Chivalry are in effect—they will disable your Paladin and Archer. You'll need your Paladin to protect Ezel and your Archer to cast Aim: Arm on enemies to keep them from hurting him. Laws that forbid Phantasm magic or Katanas are favorable.

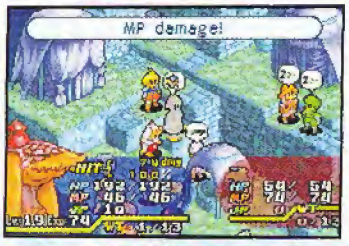
SANDMAN EZEL

Ezel Berbier uses a powerful spell called Azoth that has a chance of mesmerizing all units in the area. Observe which enemy units are asleep after Ezel casts Azoth; focus first on any that are still awake and those that you can knock out with one blow.

After Ezel casts Azoth, carefully choose which enemy units to attack. Don't attack any sleeping units unless you can knock them out before they get a chance to move or attack again.

HARMFUL ILLUSIONS

Illusionists can use their Phantasm Skill to cast powerful spells that have a chance of inflicting elemental damage on all enemy units in the area. The enemy Illusionist will wreak havoc on your units if given the chance, so take him out quickly or drain his Magic Points.



Use Magic Break, Rasp or any other MP draining skills to reduce the enemy Illusionist's MP. Phantasm Skill spells require a high amount of MP, so if you drain an Illusionist's MP, you can render the foe completely powerless.

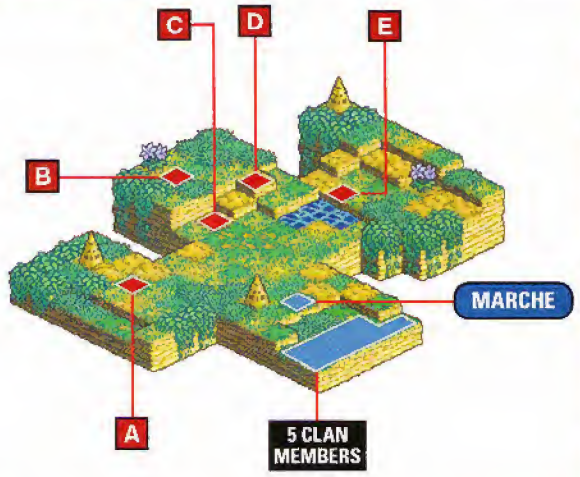
AISENFIELD

REQUIREMENTS	Contract the mission then move to Aisenfield.
OBJECTIVE	Defeat all enemies!
REWARDS	10,600 Gil, 40 AP, 100 CP, Roda Volcano icon

Strong monsters with powerful elemental attacks are your foes during the Diamond Rain mission. You'll need to use your knowledge of elemental magic strengths and weaknesses to win the battle.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

The Icedrakes and Ice Flan have high Weapon Defense but low Magic Resistance. Dispatch a Black Mage and a Summoner (if you have one) to take care of the icy fiends. Also use an Archer with the Blackout ability.

JOB	ABILITY

Black Mage	Thundara

When you disperse your units across the battlefield, be careful not to leave your weaker units without any protection. If you leave them vulnerable, the monsters will eat them for lunch!

ZAP ICE WITH THUNDER

The Ice Flan will absorb any Ice damage it is dealt and heal itself. Use Thunder spells and abilities to cause the most damage against Ice-based enemies. The Bomb is resistant to Fire and weak to Ice—use Ice spells on it to douse its flame.

A Summoner's Ramuh spell and a Black Mage's Thundara are some of the strongest Thunder spells around. Use them to destroy any Ice-based foes you encounter in one or two hits.

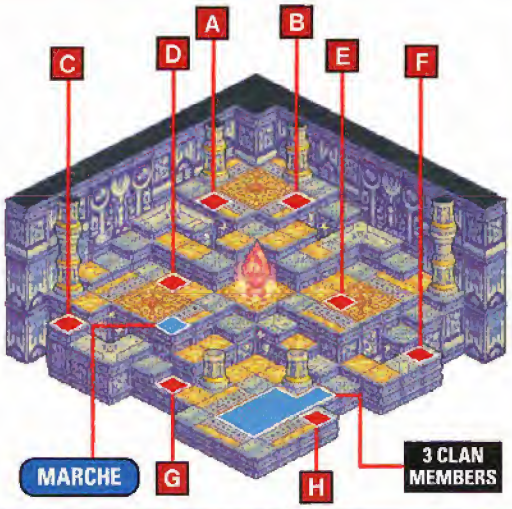
MISSION 008 HOT AWAKENING

RANK 3

RODA VOLCANO

REQUIREMENTS	Contract the mission then move to Roda Volcano.
OBJECTIVE	Destroy all targets!
REWARDS	11,400 Gil, 80 AP, 100 CP, Koringwood icon

The battle in Roda Volcano against the Ultima Crystals looks much easier than it is. Smash all eight of the crystals to destroy the main one. Hot Awakening is a great mission to level up lower-level units since they risk damage only from charmed units.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

The Ultima Crystals can't attack, so it's safe to bring in some of your clan's lower-level units to get them some experience. Select units with ranged abilities, such as a Dragoon with Jump or a Black Mage.

JOB	ABILITY
Black Mage	Fira
Dragoon	Jump
Fighter	Air Render

RECOMMENDED LAWS

The Ultima Crystals cast Logos, a charm spell, so we strongly recommend that you engage them when the World Law forbids Charm—you'll be able to disable them completely. Or, you could ignore the law and use a Totema to finish the battle in one round for an easy win.

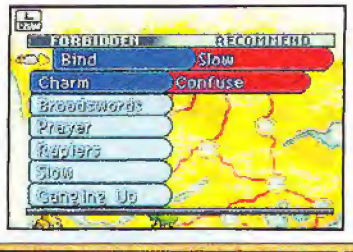
CHECK THE WORLD LAW

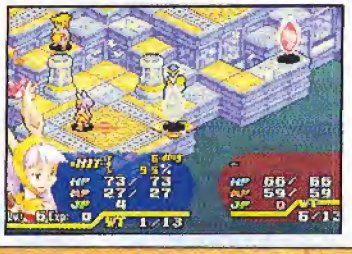
Make sure the law forbids Charm before you enter Roda Volcano for the Hot Awakening mission, or you'll face a long and frustrating battle. When a unit becomes charmed, it will hurt ally units and aid enemy units with support magic if able.



Check the law on the world map by pressing the L Button. If the World Law is not one you want, walk around the map until the law you want comes up. If you enter Hot Awakening without disabling Charm, bring a White Mage with Esuna (but not Life) to cure charmed units.

LEVEL UP YOUR UNITS

Since the Ultima Crystals can cast only Charm, and can't attack on their own, dispatch some of your clan's lower-level units to reap some easy experience. It's best to choose units that have some sort of ranged attack, such as Archers, Black Mages and Summoners.



Attacking the Ultima Crystals is simple since they are stationary. Use your clan's lower level-units to destroy the crystals, thereby boosting their experience. You can cast magic reflective spells on your units (such as a White Mage's Shell spell) if you don't disable charm before the battle.

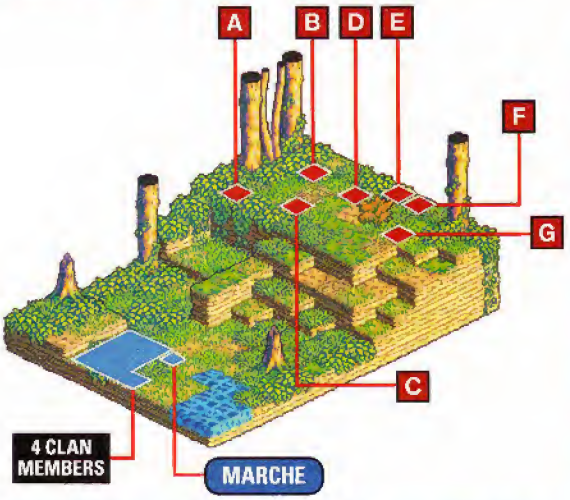
In the Magic Wood mission, the odds are stacked against your clan: There are seven enemies to your five units. Your instinct may be to destroy the enemies as quickly as possible, but take the time to steal their armor first—you won't regret it!



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

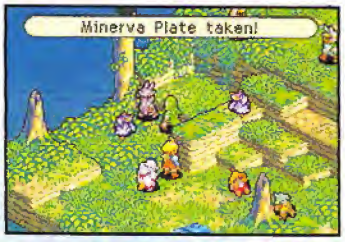
STEAL ARMOR OFF THEIR BACKS

The enemies have some nice armor that your clan could really benefit from. Now if you could only convince them to hand it over quietly—not likely! Use one of your clan's Thieves with the Steal: Armor ability to pilfer some new duds from your foes.



Steal, like all abilities, is more likely to be successful if performed while an enemy has its back toward the Thief or is asleep.

SAVE YOUR EQUIPMENT!

Beware of enemy Thieves—they can steal your clan members' equipment just as you can steal the enemies'! When you know that you'll be facing enemy Thieves, bring clan members who have the Maintenance ability—a passive skill that blocks the Steal ability.

Some jobs (Thieves and Alchemists) can learn the Maintenance ability from the Adaman Vest. Teach the skill early on to as many clan members as you can to protect your group from Thieves.

Babus and a small army of royal guards engage your clan in Emerald Keep. If you defeat Babus, the battle will be over. Take your time and steal any equipment you can—the royal armory knows how to equip its guards with the finest Ivalice has to offer.

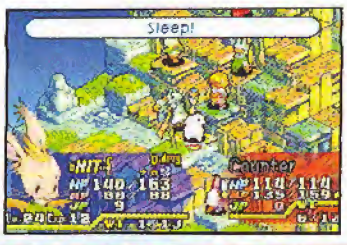
PILFER MORE EQUIPMENT

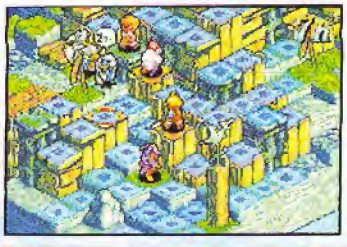
Have one of your clan's Animists cast Sheep Count on the enemy units to disable them. While the enemies are asleep, sneak up with your Thieves and steal their equipment. Sleeping enemies are much easier to attack and steal from.



Animists can cast Sheep Count to put multiple units to sleep, but they aren't your only option. Red Mages can also learn Sleep, and Morphers equipped with a Lamia Soul can cast Night.

DASH & JUMP

Salikawood's terrain is very uneven, which makes it difficult to traverse. Before you enter the area, equip your clan members with items that will raise their Move and Jump rating, such as Dash Boots and Spike Boots.



If your units have high Move and Jump ratings, they will be able to move about the Salikawood battlefield much easier than your opponents can. Before you engage the enemy, look at your equipment to see which of your accessories will raise your Move and Jump ratings.

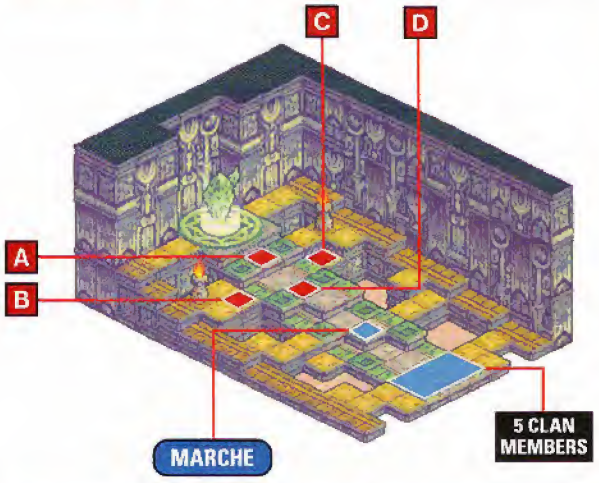
REQUIREMENTS	Contract the mission then move to Nargai Cave.
OBJECTIVE	Defeat the boss!
REWARDS	15,000 Gil, 80 AP, 100 CP, Baguba Port icon

Your clan's encounter with the third Totema, Adremmalech, takes place in Nargai Cave. Adremmalech is guarded by three Dragons, each of which represent an element. Disable the dragons with two Archers, then defeat the Totema to win the battle.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

Disabling the three Dragons that guard Adremmalech is the key to winning. Dispatch two Archers—one with the Blackout ability to blind the Dragons, and one with Aim: Arm to disable their physical attacks.

JOB	ABILITY

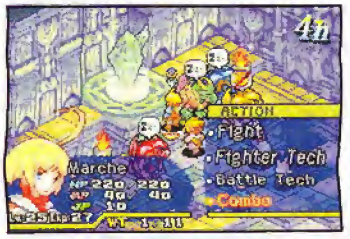
Adremmalech's guardian Dragons will cast Bolt Breath, Fire Breath and Ice Breath on your units if you don't disable them quickly. Put the Dragons to sleep, or use Archers to blind them and nullify their physical attacks with the Aim abilities.

Dragons have some natural resistance to status ailments. Use two or three units to focus on disabling the Dragons at the beginning of the battle.

GANGING UP!

After you cripple the Dragons, surround Adremmalech and use your units' Combo abilities to knock your foe out in a few rounds. When you defeat Adremmalech, the crystal will be destroyed—you will win the battle regardless of how many Dragons remain.



Combo attack power correlates directly to how many JP the unit has remaining. A character who has 10 JP (the maximum) will have the most powerful Combo.

Jagd Hunt is your clan's first engagement in a Jagd. Jagds are areas in Ivalice where there is no law. Nono (Montblanc's little brother) has an airship that suffered a hit and run—the perpetrators escaped into Jagd Dorsa. Make the enemies pay for the damage.

REVIVE THE FALLEN

Engaging the enemy in an area where all laws are null has benefits and drawbacks. If one of your clan members falls in battle, make sure you revive him or her with a Phoenix Down or Life spell before the battle ends. With no laws, there are no judges to ensure your safety.

Watch each of your unit's HP carefully. Focus on taking out the hardest-hitting enemies first, such as the Assassin and the Ninja, so you run less risk of your units being knocked out. Make sure at least one of your units can use items.

STEAL FROM THE ASSASSIN

The enemy Assassin has a nice set of Wygar armor that would look great on a few of your clan members. Use a clan Thief with the Steal: Armor ability to relieve her of the armor. Remember to steal from behind her or while she is asleep.

Assassins have a high Evade rating. Put the enemy Assassin to sleep to steal her armor before you knock her out—it will come in handy for your clan.

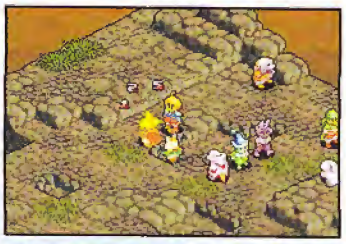
TAKE IT TO HIM

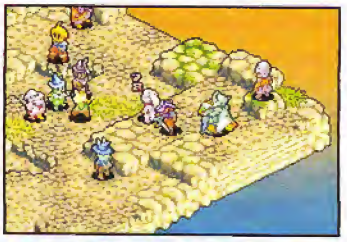
The enemy clan's Black Mage has mastered Return Magic, which means that any spells used against him will be reflected back to the user. Get close and finish him off with your Dragoon or Fighter to avoid a nasty surprise.



It's not really a good idea to attack magic users with magic. Even if they don't know Return Magic, their Magic Resistance stat is usually through the roof—rendering your magic attacks next to useless.

LAY THE LEADER LOW

The nominal leader of the bounty hunters is the Paladin, and he should be your top priority. The Paladin knows both Cura and Life, and if you don't eliminate him he'll run around the battlefield healing his teammates.



Surround the Paladin and take him out with whatever means necessary. If you brought along an Assassin, have her run to the Paladin and attack with Last Breath. You might get lucky and take him out in one fell blow.

REQUIREMENTS	Contract the mission and go to Jeraw Sands on the world map.

Someone has been making cheap knock-offs of expensive timepieces—it ends here! There are only four enemies in Golden Clock, but they're all high-level characters that can set you on your ear. They don't have much in the way of Weapon Defense, however.

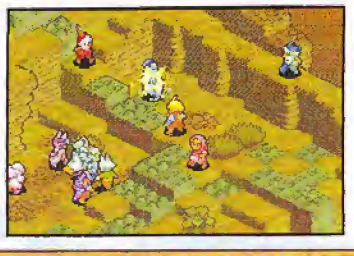
It can be hard to get your licks in during the battle, but it also means you'll probably survive unscathed. Ritz and Shara each have a very nice accessory, but don't try to steal them—you can't take things from allies.

FIRE IN THE SKY

The crafty enemy Alchemist knows Meteor, so you'll need to take him out as early as possible. The ability calls dozens of meteors down from the sky, and can decimate an unprepared clan in no time. Don't let it happen to you.



The poor Alchemist is defenseless against your powerful weapons. Use a Fighter or a Dragoon to knock him unconscious in no time.

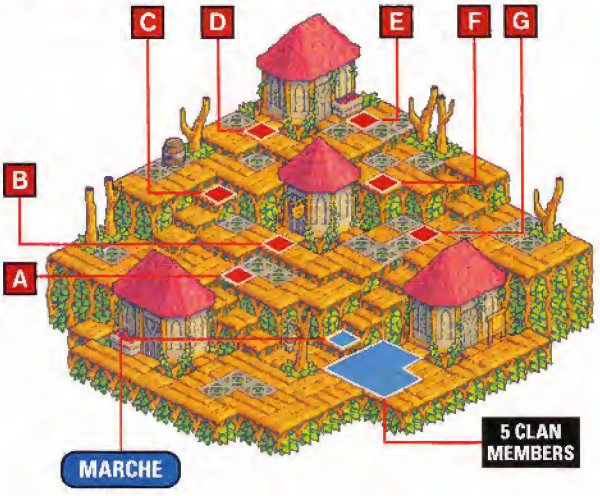
OBJECTIVE	Defeat all enemies!
REWARDS	19,600 Gil, 80 AP, 100 CP, Uladon Bog icon

As soon as you talk to Ezel and enter the town of Muscadet, you'll be thrust into a massive battle. Scouring Time is a two-part affair—and the second half is for Marche only—so consider your plan of attack carefully. Save your game before the mission!



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

You must bring Marche and Montblanc along, so you can include only four other members. The Templars are wearing awesome armor, so definitely bring a Thief or two.

RECOMMENDED LAWS

Choose your laws with the second half of the mission in mind. Don't ban Holy, Color Magic or Steal at any cost. A good law combination is Saber and Time Magic—you can easily avoid bringing both into the fight, and you'll still have a number of strategic options.

ONE TO THE NEXT

The first part of Scouring Time leads directly to the second—where Marche must fight alone. Make sure that the laws are to your liking and that Marche is ready for the solo battle. (Read up on the battle on the next page before making any decisions.)

The Item ability will be very handy in the next fight, but you might also consider Steal. The enemy in the next stage has a rare robe that you can swipe. Marche is probably best off as a Fighter, but Paladin and Ninja jobs are also good choices.

TO CATCH A THIEF

The two enemy Templars are equipped with Genji Armor and Dragon Mail, respectively. Genji Armor is extremely rare, and the Dragon Mail isn't bad either—steal them both before the battle ends.

This isn't the greatest time to be stealing armor—the fight is tough enough—but the Genji Armor is more than worth it. If you can put the fighters to sleep first, you'll reduce the chances of a failed steal attempt.

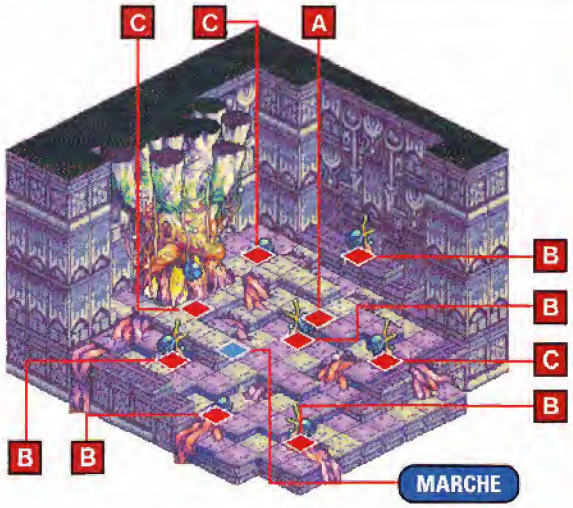
MISSION 015 — SCOURING TIME 2

RANK 3

MUSCADET

REQUIREMENTS	—
OBJECTIVE	Destroy all targets!
REWARDS	—

The second half of Scouring Time takes place after Marche has been arrested and taken to the royal palace. The mission is a mano-a-mano battle against Babus, followed by a lot of Exodus Fruit smashing.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

Babus will drain Marche's HP in no time, so you may want the Item ability equipped. If you're feeling lucky, give Marche Steal: Armor and try to take Babus's Lordly Robe—which teaches Absorb MP.

JOB	ABILITY
Fighter	Air Render

RECOMMENDED LAWS

Whatever laws were in effect for the first part of the mission will remain in effect during the second leg. There aren't any laws that effectively counter Babus' magic, so avoid laws that hinder your strategy, such as Items, Holy and Steal.

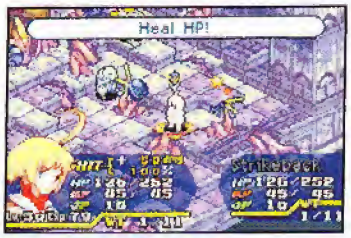
HEAL THYSELF

Babus knows Demi, which will drain half of your HP in a single turn. If you have Item as your second A-ability, you can heal the damage by using Hi-Potions or X-Potions. Normal potions aren't powerful enough to do the job.



Healing yourself is important, but it's easy to get bogged down in a battle where Babus attacks, Marche heals and the cycle repeats. If you have an Angel Ring available, equip Marche with it before the first battle. That way, if Babus takes him out, he will come back to life with half of his HP.

DISTANT RELATIONS

Babus also knows Counter, and his return strike can sap 50 HP from Marche in a single blow. Try to keep your distance when attacking the mage—Air Render will be particularly helpful, although it doesn't do as much damage as a full-on assault.

Once Babus is weakened—or if he misses with some of his magic and you have a large HP advantage—feel free to charge in and finish the job. After Babus is unconscious, run around the room and take out the Ultima Fruits with your sword.

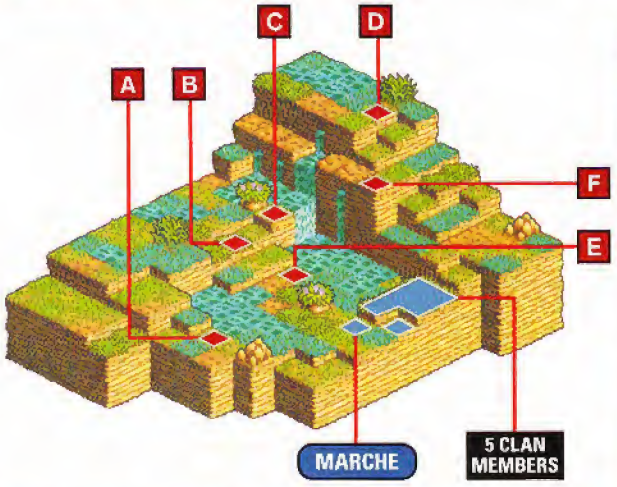
REQUIREMENTS	Contract the mission and head for Uladon Bog.
OBJECTIVE	Defeat all enemies!
REWARDS	20,400 Gil, 40 AP, 100 CP, Gotor Sands icon

If you've been running around stealing items willy-nilly from other hapless clans, it's time for some payback. The Big Find features not one, but TWO Thieves that spend their time running amok and taking your hard-earned equipment.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

Air Render is a great ability to use in the battle, as it crosses long distances and lets you attack people at high elevations. Try to bring a good combination of magic and weapon users.

JOB	ABILITY
Bishop	Air Render

RECOMMENDED LAWS

You want the Steal law to be in effect. The enemies have decent gear, but nothing that's worth losing your equipment over. Try to avoid having Jump and Techniques in effect, as you won't be able to use many of your long-distance attacks otherwise.

A THIEF IN THE DAY

The Big Find is the first battle where you have to worry about multiple Thieves, and if you don't take precautions, you're apt to be horribly disappointed. The easiest way to avoid the loss of a treasured item is to make stealing illegal.

If you choose not to outlaw Steal, make sure that anyone who knows Maintenance sets it as an S-ability—it will prevent equipment from being snatched.

DON'T CATCH IT ON THE REBOUND

Attack the weapon users with magic and vice versa. Be careful whom you choose to attack with what, as many of the enemies have abilities such as Strikeback and Return Magic, which will throw your attack right back at you.

The enemy units start the battle pretty close together, so it's a good fight in which to unleash a Summoner. If you're going to attack the Bishop that knows Return Magic, try wearing armor that neutralizes one type of magic, then summon the beast of that type.

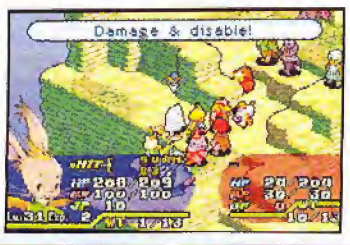
CANCING UP IS EASY TO DO

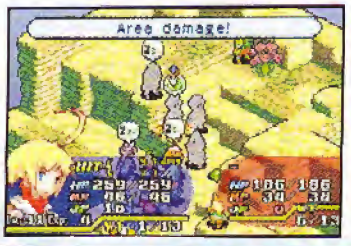
The enemy clan has a Bishop and a Defender among its ranks. Make them your first targets, or they will heal their injured comrades with magic and items. The Bishop is wearing a Flurry Robe, so don't attack with Ice magic or you'll heal him.



The Defender is a tough nut to crack, but keep pounding away until he falls. A good tactic is to surround him with multiple units so he can't flee and heal himself.

CROWDED HOUSE

The best way to take out enemies during the mission is by targeting them with abilities that deal damage to an area. Your Fighter's Far Fist ability fits the bill, as does any attack from your Black Mage or Summoner.



Most of the enemy units are weak against magic, so stack your party with magic users and hit them where it hurts. You'll be in for a long fight if you try to match steel with steel.

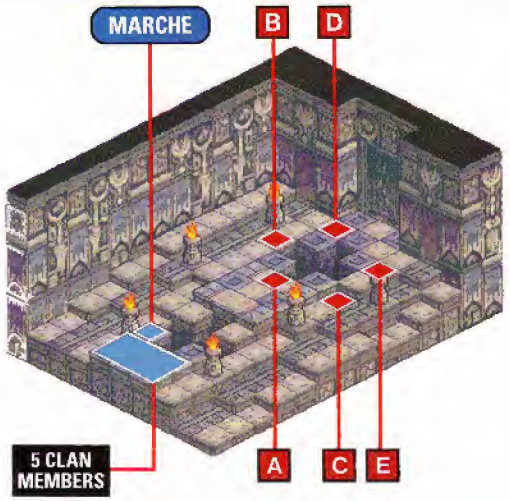
DELIA DUNES

REQUIREMENTS	Contract the mission for 4,500 Gil and head to Delia Dunes.
OBJECTIVE	Defeat the boss!
REWARDS	22,600 Gil, 80 AP, 100 CP, Materiwood icon

The Quiet Sands mission is one of the few that has two parts—plan ahead for back-to-back battles. Your clan must face a mysterious young man, Llednar, and his guards. Steal what you can and survive a few rounds of battle against the invincible foe to win.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

LLEDNAR DISREGARDS THE LAW

At the beginning of the battle, Judgemaster Cid will forbid Llednar from using his Omega ability because it risks breaking the crystal nearby. After a few rounds of battle, Llednar will disregard Cid's law—Judgemaster Cid will throw Llednar in prison.

Your foes, especially Llednar, have some very nice equipment. You have only a few rounds of battle before the end, so steal what armor and helms you can before time runs out!

WHAT THE HEY?

The Titania have a bizarre ability called LV?D Holy. If the day of the month shares a digit with the experience level of any unit, the character will suffer Holy damage when the spell is cast. If you want to avoid it, do some quick math before the fight.

LV?D Holy is a Holy-attribute spell. Equip any members you dispatch with Holy-absorbing Armor or Shields to protect them from taking heavy damage from the spell.

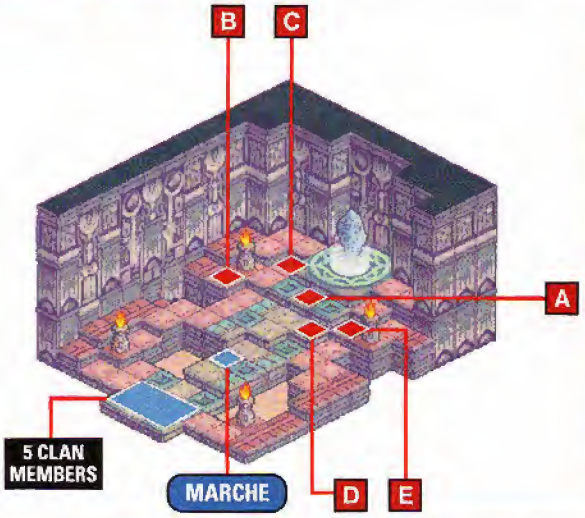
DELIA DUNES

REQUIREMENTS	—
OBJECTIVE	Defeat the boss!
REWARDS	—

After Marche and the clan battle Lidenar, Judgemaster Cid takes Marche to see the final Totema (the Human one), Mateus. You must battle Mateus and its Vampire guardians alone. Watch Marche's health—if he faints, you'll lose the battle.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

Select the Item ability for Marche so that he can heal himself during the battle. Dispatch at least two White Mages—one with Life and another with Cura or Curaga to aid your units and to harm the Vampires.

JOB	ABILITY

RECOMMENDED LAWS

The World Laws that were in effect during the first part of Quiet Sands will also apply to Quiet Sands 2. If Holy and Techniques are forbidden, the battle will be much tougher. Remember that Holy spells will do a great deal of damage to Dark-attribute monsters, such as Vampires.

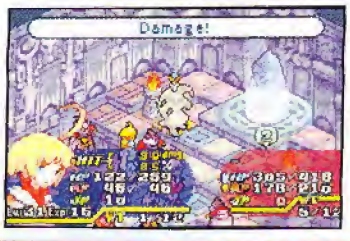
FOCUS ALL ATTACKS ON MATEUS

The Vampires are undead creatures who can rise from the grave. Three rounds after you knock them out, they will reanimate and join the battle again. Focus all your attacks on Mateus—if you knock out the Totema, you'll end the battle.



Mateus, the Human Totema, has over 400 HP and good defense. Assault Mateus with units that have high Attack ratings, such as Fighters and Dragoons, to do the most damage.

USE HOLY-ATTRIBUTE ATTACKS

The enemy Vampires are weak to all Holy spells since their attribute is Dark. When you cast Cure, Cura, Curaga or Life on a Dark-attribute monster, it deals heavy damage instead of healing or reviving the foe.

Position hurt units around the Vampires so that when you cast Cura on the Vampire to hurt it, you heal your units in the process. You'll get two benefits from the spell for the price of one!

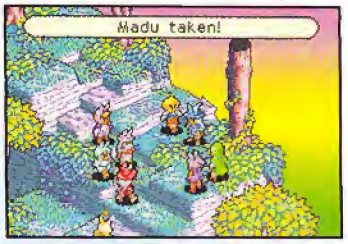
RIBBON & MADU THIEVES

Sometimes the only way to get your hands on rare items is to steal them. Your enemies in Materiwood have two such items that your clan could really use. The Red Mage has a Madu, and the Elementalist has a Ribbon. Use your Thieves to steal the two items.



The Madu will allow any Red Mage to learn the Doublecast ability. The Ribbon is special headgear that protects the wearer from all status effects.

SET YOUR OWN LAWS

If there is at least one empty Law slot open, you can use Law cards to disable more enemies, such as the Summoner, Assassin or Sniper. The enemy Assassin's Last Breath ability has a chance of instantly knocking out a unit, and the Summoner will do heavy damage to your clan.

Use your Law cards to disable enemies during battle. If you use a Law card that forbids Missile, you will disable the enemy Sniper. A Law card that forbids Counter will stop the enemy Assassin short.

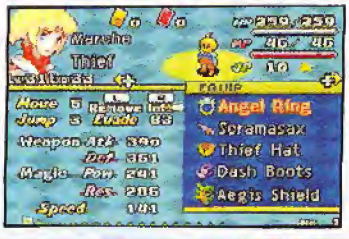
MARCHE MUST CONTINUE ALONE

You will not be allowed to save in between the Present Day and Present Day 2 missions. Marche will have to face Lledrar alone in Present Day 2, so prepare him with the right equipment and abilities (such as Item) beforehand.



If you have an Angel Ring, equip Marche with it. If he gets knocked out in Present Day 2, the Angel Ring will instantly revive him. Dash Boots are also a good accessory choice for the battle ahead.

DETECT AND STEAL!

There are two ways to find hidden weapons. Either use an ability such as a Fighter's Sensor or a Mog Knight's Mog Peek, or simply use a Thief to steal the weapon the enemy is holding, then wait for the enemy to equip its hidden item.

The Mog Knight and the Alchemist are carrying two rare weapons, the Materia Blade and the Scorpion Tail. Both weapons are must-haves for your clan.

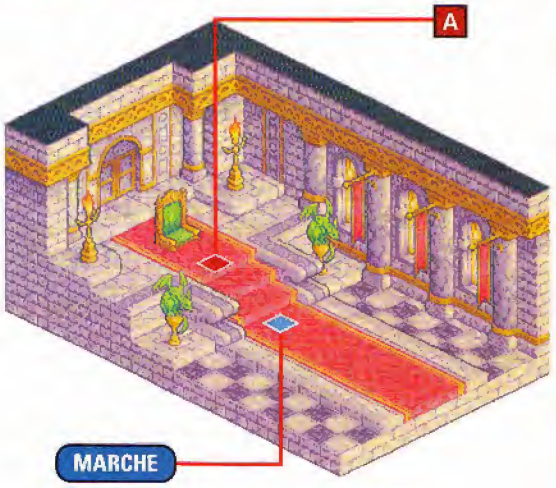
REQUIREMENTS	—
OBJECTIVE	Survive!
REWARDS	—

Marche must face Llednar one-on-one in the Bervenia Palace throne room. You have no hope of harming the mysterious and powerful Llednar, so you must stall until Judgemaster Cid arrives to help you. Your only objective is to survive as you await Cid.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

If Marche hasn't learned any Thief abilities yet, now is a great time to start! Have Marche use the Thief's Steal: Weapon ability to disarm Llednar. Also give Marche the ability to use items for the battle.

JOB	ABILITY

RECOMMENDED LAWS

There are no World Laws during the Present Day 2 mission. Therefore, you can't use any Law or Antilaw cards.

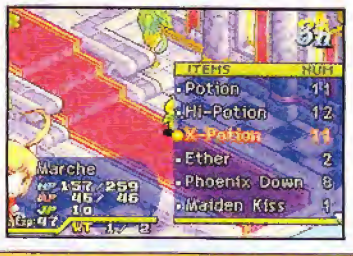
DISARM LLEDNAR

The powerful combination of Llednar's mighty blade, SaveTheQueen, and his Omega ability is unmatched. If you steal Llednar's weapon, you will decrease his attack power substantially. Disarm your foe, or plan on keeping your distance.

Llednar's signature ability, Omega, is a high-power attack that strikes anyone near him. Keep your distance from Llednar so he won't be able to use Omega on you.

X-POTIONS TO THE RESCUE

If Llednar strikes Marche, he will be hurt pretty badly. X-Potions are the most effective healing items you can use in the mission since the only objective is to stay alive until Judgemaster Cid arrives.



If Marche becomes injured as he tries to stall Llednar, back away from the foe and heal with an X-Potion to restore a significant amount of health. Don't try to stand toe-to-toe with Llednar for any reason. You can't harm him.

STOP ENEMIES IN THEIR TRACKS

Enemies that inflict status ailments can cause all sorts of problems for your units. Before enemies such as the Sage and Blue Mage can hinder your units, knock them out of action! Powerful long-range attacks are the best for picking off pesky enemies.

The Gunner ability, Stopshot, is one of the most useful skills for disabling enemies quickly and from a distance. It causes damage and stops the enemy in its tracks for a few rounds of battle.

AIM FOR THE CROWD

Use one of your clan's Summoners to cast powerful area-effect spells that damage many enemies at once. Summon spells are especially useful for situations in which you are surrounded by powerful enemies and you need to take out as many as possible.

Summoners and Illusionists have the ability to hit many or all of the enemies with one powerful spell. Summon and Phantasm spells eat up a large amount of MP, so use them sparingly.

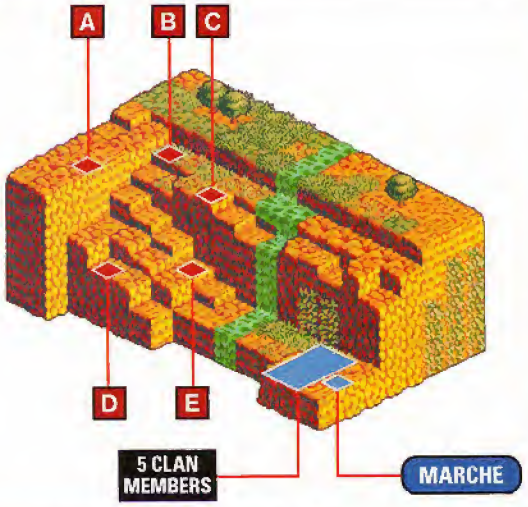
REWARDS	27,000 Gil, 40 AP, 100 CP, Siena Gorge icon

After receiving an urgent message from Judgemaster Cid, Marche and the clan head to Deti Plains to meet him. Instead, they are greeted by a group of savage monsters! Deti Plains has a narrow layout—guard in the front and cast area-effect spells from the rear.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

Dispatch a Summoner with Ifrit and a Black Mage with Thundaga or Blizzaga to do wide-range damage. Guard the weaker units with a Paladin and a Defender. Toss in a White Mage with Protect for added defense.

JOB	ABILITY

RECOMMENDED LAWS

Avoid engaging the monsters in Deti Plains when the law forbids Summon Magic, Color Magic or Dmg2: Animal—you'll have a hard time damaging the powerful foes. If you enter Deti Plains when the Status law is active, the monsters won't be able to use their status-ailment abilities on you.

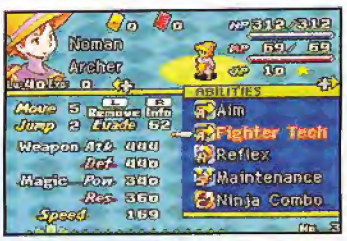
JAWBREAKER'S LV5 DEATH ABILITY

The enemy Jawbreaker has an ability called Lv5 Death that is especially dangerous. Lv5 Death can instantly knock out any unit whose level is a multiple of five. If you have any units who would fall under the spell's rule, focus all your firepower on taking out the Jawbreaker first.



The enemy Jawbreaker can use Lv5 Death only if at least one of your units' levels is a multiple of five. Check your units' levels before the battle to avoid the spell completely.

CREATE A BLOCKADE

The mighty monsters could make quick work of weaker units such as your Black Mage and Summoner if you aren't careful. Block the enemies on the narrow field with your Paladin and Dragoon, then have all units with ranged abilities attack from a safe distance.

Instead of dispatching a Fighter with the Far Fist ability, try dispatching an Archer with Blackout—both are very effective. If you plan on using status ailments to fight the monsters, make sure the Status law isn't in effect.

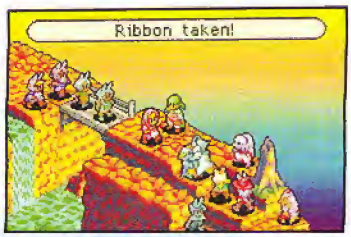
RIBBON THEFT

Ritz and Shara both wear Ribbons—the rare helms nullify all status ailments. The Ribbons would be valuable assets to your clan. Use a clan Thief with Steal: Helm to pluck the Ribbons from their hair. After the prizes are yours, put Ritz to sleep.



Ritz will use Doublecast throughout the battle, pummeling your units with powerful Red Mage spells. She is impervious to all status ailments as long as she wears her Ribbon. Steal the Ribbon, then put her to sleep while you steal her units' armor.

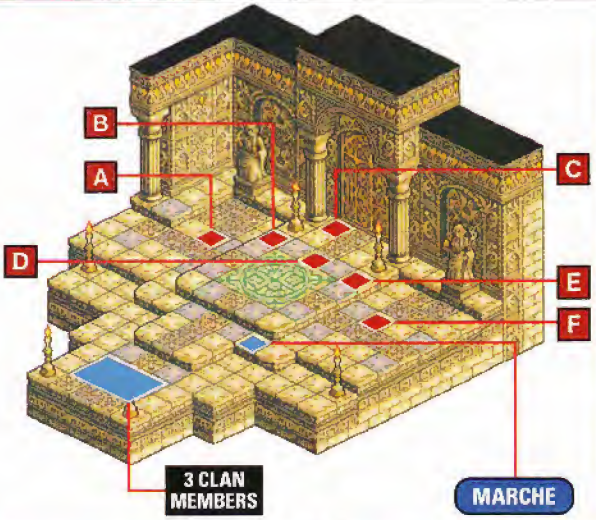
USING LAW COMBINATIONS

If you choose to engage Ritz and her clan while the law forbids Missile, you'll still have to deal with her Summoner. There's only one way to blunt the enemy Summoner, Assassin and Sniper all at once. Use the World Law and a Law card together!

Bring either a Summon or Missile Law card with you to Siena Gorge. Couple the Law card with either the Missile or Summon Magic World Law (to take the place of whichever card you didn't bring); Ritz will never know what hit her!

MISSION 024 RANK 3	ROYAL VALLEY	AMBERVALE
REQUIREMENTS	Move to Ambervale.
OBJECTIVE	Defeat the boss!
REWARDS	—

Marche enters Royal Valley in Ambervale for his final confrontation. There are three consecutive Royal Valley missions, and the World Laws that are in place when you enter Ambervale will remain throughout all three battles. Prepare yourself before entering!



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

Judgemaster Cid destroyed the Fortune Law that made Llednar invincible, but he is still very strong. Dispatch units that have high Attack ratings, such as a Dragoon, and a Ninja. Also bring a White Mage with Auto-Life.

JOB	ABILITY
Dragoon	Jump
Ninja	Double Sword
Red Mage	Doublecast
White Mage	Auto-Life

RECOMMENDED LAWS

Many of the enemies that Llednar summons to his side during the battle have Skill A-abilities. Enter Ambervale with Skill forbidden to disable some of their stronger attacks. Bring along a Target All Law card if you can get your hands on one—it will be useful for the battles ahead.

LLEDNAR THE BISKMATAR

Llednar may have been weakened by Judgemaster Cid's powerful Anti-law card, but he is still very magic-resistant. Being a Mageknight, Llednar will simply absorb any offensive magic attacks. The only way to damage your foe is to strike him with weapons.

Llednar has no Reaction ability, so your units can attack him at close range without suffering any consequences. With your four members (counting Marche) against six foes, you'll want to take out Llednar as quickly as possible to end the battle. Consider using a Ninja with Metal Veil to blind Llednar.

KO PREVENTION: AUTO-LIFE

You can dispatch only three units besides Marche for the first Royal Valley mission; Babus accompanies, but he is unconscious when you enter Royal Valley, and you can't revive him. Use a White Mage to cast Auto-Life on your units early in the battle.

White Mages can learn the incredibly useful Auto-Life spell from the Cheer Staff. The battle against Llednar is one of the toughest ones yet—cast Auto-Life on your units; they will automatically be revived if they are knocked out.

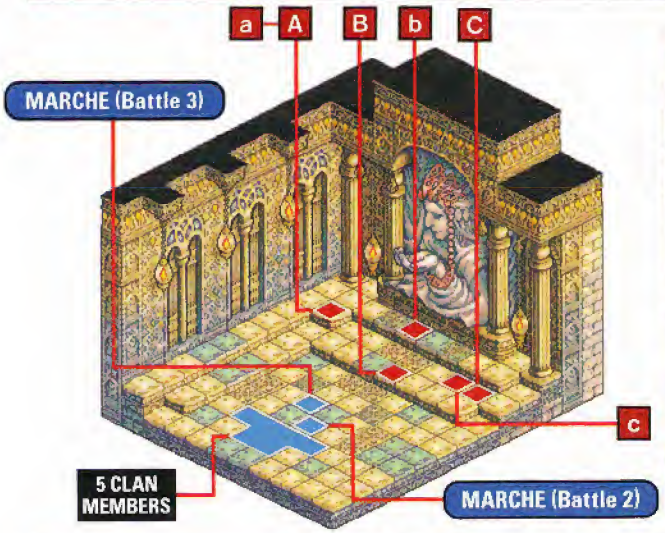
MISSION 024 — ROYAL VALLEY 2&3

RANK 3

AMBERVALE

REQUIREMENTS	—
OBJECTIVE	Defeat the boss!
REWARDS	—

Your final confrontation with Queen Remedi awaits. Remedi (in her Battle Queen and Li-Grim forms) is a Holy-based creature—if you use Holy spells, abilities or weapons on her, you will heal her. Prepare yourself for tough back-to-back battles.



RECOMMENDED MEMBERS

Dispatch your hardest-hitting units, such as a Dragoon with Jump and Ninjas with Double Sword. Take one White Mage with Auto-Life, and a Time Mage with Quicken or a Juggler with Smile to speed up your turns.

JOB	ABILITY
Dragoon	Jump
Ninja	Double Sword
Ninja	Double Sword
Red Mage	Doublecast
Time Mage	Quicken
White Mage	Auto-Life

RECOMMENDED LAWS

The World Laws from the first Royal Valley mission carry over to the second and third. If Target All is forbidden (either through the World Law or a Law card), some of Remedi's and her allies' most powerful attacks will be nullified. Be careful—Remedi can change the laws at will.

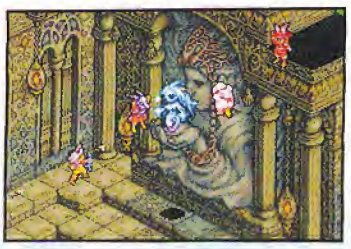
QUICKEN AND STRIKE

Use a clan Time Mage with Quicken or a Juggler with Smile to speed up your strongest units. The key to defeating Remedi in both of her forms is to hit her hard and fast. Focus all your efforts on knocking her out—her allies will go down with her.

When battling Remedi, cast Quicken or Smile on your units that have the highest Weapon Attack. The right equipment can also help—use Holy shields on any characters who can use them, but don't equip Holy weapons (such as the Excalibur), or you won't be able to hurt her.

WORK TOGETHER!

Remedi's Li-Grim form has very high HP and Magic Attack. You could whittle her down with individual attacks, but her spells are disastrous if she gets a chance to cast them. Surround the Li-Grim and use Combo attacks to do the most damage.



Focus on keeping your units alive and dealing the greatest damage possible to the Li-Grim with chained Combo attacks—you can perform powerful ones if you can surround the Li-Grim with three or more units.

MISSION-ITEM SUBQUESTS

Some items and equipment in Ivalice are incredibly rare and exceptionally strong. Such things take quite a bit of time and work to obtain, but they're well worth it. Follow the chain of Subquests below to collect the special Mission Items you must combine to make the rare items. Each Subquest will appear in a pub as you progress through the story.

REQ. ITEM & REWARD

REQ. ITEM
The required item is the Mission Item you must possess in order to contract the mission from the pub.

Most Subquests yield random rewards each time you accept them from the pub. You can do some Subquests more than once to get different random rewards.

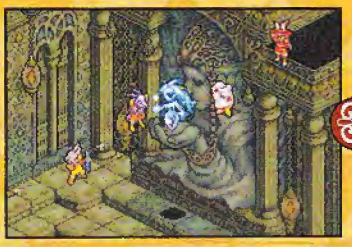
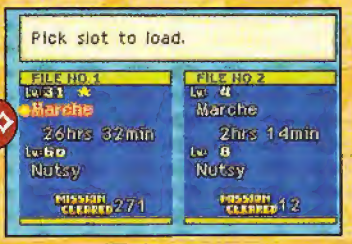
SECRET CHARACTERS

THE END OF THE BEGINNING

Final Fantasy Tactics Advance doesn't end with the final battle—there are still more surprises! After you beat the final boss and save your game, you can use that save file to continue exploring the world of Ivalice. In addition to completing any Dispatch missions or Subquests that you missed the first time, you'll have a chance to take on new missions that were previously unavailable.



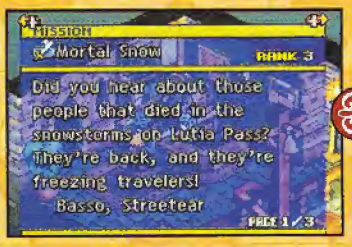
Take out the boss, then save your game.



Once you've beaten the game, a star will appear beside the name of your save file.

A BINDING CONTRACT

You can earn five secret clan members—Shara, Ritz, Ezel, Babus and Cid. You must beat the game to unlock most of the characters, but it's possible (though tough) to unlock Ezel before you do so. The requirements for unlocking each person are listed in the chart below. Once you have a secret character, he or she will function like any other member—although some of them can learn abilities that are unavailable to normal clan members. The missions are top-secret and don't count toward the 300 missions in the Clan Menu.



Most of the secret missions appear in pubs and must be purchased for Gil.

Succeed in the mission to have a secret character join your clan.

CLAN ENCOUNTER BATTLES

Your clan must defeat four competing clans before you reach the Clan League finals. The four clan engagements look like regular Encounter missions at the pubs. Sign up for each Clan League mission, then go out into Ivalice and find your opponent! The Clan League final mission will appear in any pub after you win the first four missions.

Contract the Clan League missions at any pub. After you accept the one, you'll have 25 days to find and defeat your opponent. When you win a mission, the next mission in the Clan League competition will appear in any Pub. The chart to the right displays the mission flow.

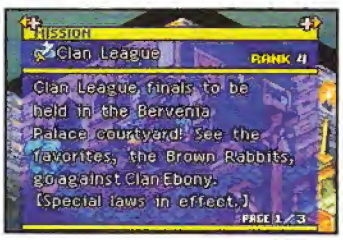
CLAN LEAGUE FINAL (PAGE 110)

CLAN LEAGUE FINAL MISSION

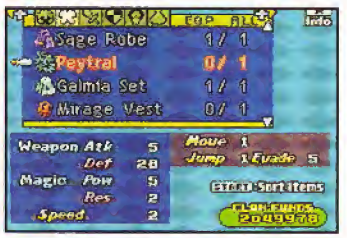
After your clan wins all four battles in the Clan League competition, visit any Pub and contract the Clan League final mission. The finals take place at Bervenia Palace against the reigning champions, the Brown Rabbits. The special law for the finals forbids the use of any Law cards. See page 110 for detailed information on the battle.



The Clan League missions are repeatable. Check the pubs to see when they reappear. The more times you do the Clan League missions, the more your Peytral armor will grow.

ARMOR THAT GROWS WITH YOU

The first time you win the Clan League competition, you are awarded very rare and special armor called Peytral. Peytral armor gains experience which increases its stats each time you win the Clan League finals. In time, the legendary armor could become your strongest piece of equipment.



The Peytral armor's Weapon Defense grows each time your clan wins the Clan League finals. Enter the Clan League competition often to build up the armor!

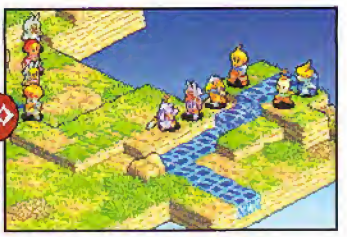
CLAN MEMBER GAIN & LOSS

Your clan can include a total of 24 members (counting Marche) at a time. If you lose clan members due to expulsion or being knocked out in a Jagd, you can recruit new members two ways: wait for members to arrive on their own after your clan completes missions, or contract recruitment missions at pubs. Maintain a well-balanced clan with different jobs and races.

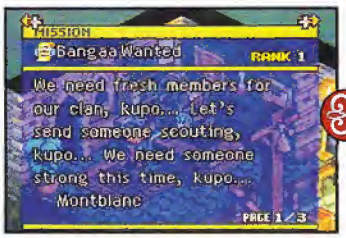
If for some reason your clan membership drops to five or fewer members, a special recruitment mission will appear in pubs.



To get a recruitment mission to appear, engage an enemy while you have five or less units in your clan. After the battle, the mission will appear in the pubs.

MEMBER RECRUITMENT MISSIONS

When your clan reaches five or less members, clan member recruitment missions will appear in any pub. Dispatch one clan member to recruit a certain race for the clan. After five days have passed, the dispatched unit will return with a new recruit!



Members of each race will seek recruitment into your clan during specific months. Check the chart to the right and plan your recruitment by month and desired race.

Sometimes expert job members will seek recruitment. Beware changing the job of such members—they may not have the normal job requirements to switch back!

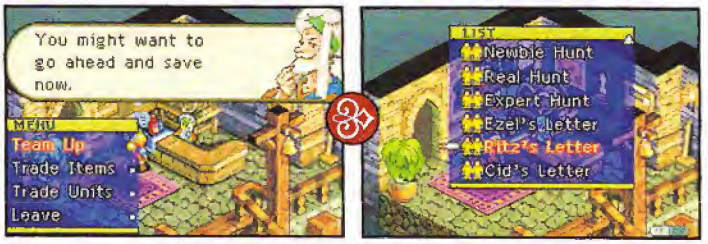
LINK MISSIONS

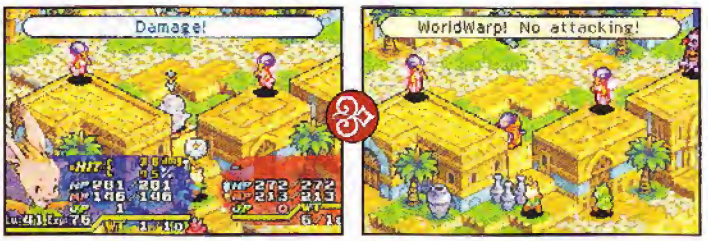
After your clan clears Mission 003, The Cheetahs, read the rumor about linking to make the Link option appear in the World Map menu—press Start to access the menu. In the Link menu, you and a friend can trade items or units and team up to tackle unique cooperative or competitive missions. Different rules govern the two-player missions than regular missions, and the missions often yield special rewards that you can't get anywhere else! Use a GBA Game Link cable and two copies of FFTA to access the Link missions.



For each Link mission you complete, more Link Missions will open up to you and your friend. Highlight a mission and press A to view the mission details. Complete as many two-player missions as you can!

COOPERATIVE MISSIONS: TEAM UP AND TAKE TURNS!

In cooperative missions, you and a friend will team up to defeat a boss or all the enemies. Special rules apply to cooperative missions. Each player dispatches half of the permitted units, so work together to complement each others' unit choices. When you attack a boss in a cooperative mission, one of your friends' units must strike the next blow before one of your units can attack again. Link missions 1, 2, 3, 7, 8 and 9 are cooperative missions.



You'll be able to take out some bosses with one hit, but you'll have to work together to defeat the tougher ones. You and a friend must take turns attacking the boss until you knock it out—use teamwork!

COMPETITIVE MISSIONS: KO THE MOST MONSTERS!

Competitive missions place you and a friend in a heated competition to see whose clan can defeat the most enemies in a mission. The player who defeats the most enemies wins. Abilities that target all enemies on the screen or knock out foes in one hit are the most useful in competitive missions. You can view your clan's Joined Battle and Record info in the Clan menu. Link missions 4, 5 and 6 are competitive missions. May the best clan win!

Your clan's wins and losses in competitive missions are recorded in the Clan menu. The Joined Battle section records how many total competitive and cooperative missions you've completed with your friends.

GROWTH ITEMS

You can obtain four legendary growth items throughout your travels. The rare items will grow with you as you complete specific quests (see the chart below). The Sequence is a Knightsword that grows in Weapon Attack. The Sapere Aude is a rod, and its Magic Attack grows. The Acacia Hat (a helm) grows in Magic Resistance, and the Peytral armor grows in Weapon Defense.

GROWTH ITEM	RELATED LINK MISSIONS	RELATED NORMAL MISSIONS
Sequence	1, 2 & 3	040: Battle Tourney
Sapere Aude	4, 5 & 6	041: Mage Tourney
Acacia Hat	7, 8 & 9	042: Swimming Meet
Peytral	—	043: Clan League

Growth items gain one point in a certain stat for each normal or Link mission you complete that is associated with the item. Growth-item missions are always repeatable.

There's a huge elevation difference on the battlefield. Use attacks that ignore height, and bring along units with distance attacks—like a Summoner or Black Mage—so you don't approach the Tonberries.

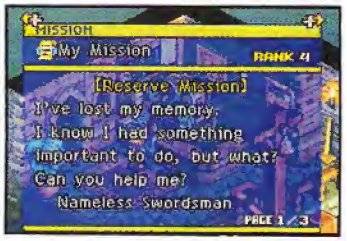
RESERVE MISSIONS

Special missions called Reserve Missions are available only if you link your game with another player. To link up, you will need two GBAs, two copies of the game and a single Game Boy Advance Game Link Cable. Reserve missions won't appear until you link up for the first time.



RESERVE-MISSION COMBINATIONS SETS

The Reserve missions will appear in one of four combinations. The combination set is randomly decided as soon as you start a new game, and you cannot change it. If you get combination A, B or C, you must trade with a friend for Mission Items (Gold Vessel, Eldagusto and/or Vermillion) before you can complete all the missions. If you are lucky enough to get combination D, you need only to link with a friend and open the Reserve missions—no trading required.

BONUS TIPS

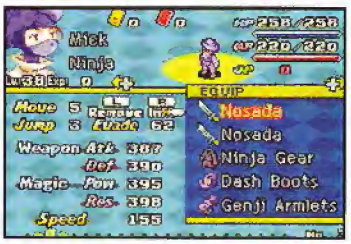
A few extra tips will help you win the day in Final Fantasy Tactics Advance. Good luck!

DOUBLE SWORD

Double Sword is probably the most useful ability in the game. The Ninja Tech ability lets you equip two weapons at the same time during combat. In addition to striking an enemy twice with a normal attack, you can also learn two abilities at once. Soldiers, Ninjas and Paladins who know Double Sword are among the most devastating units on a battlefield.

Once you know Double Sword, you can equip two of any weapon that your current job can hold.

If you equip the same weapon in both hands, you'll learn the ability twice as fast.

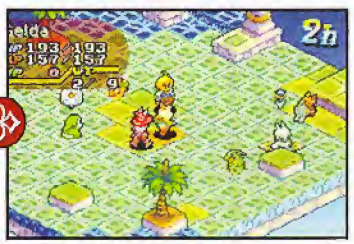


If you have two Nosadas, equip them both so you can learn Double Sword in half the time.

USING ULTIMA

Ultima is the most powerful kind of magic in the game, but its range is limited by the weapon that the caster is holding. Once you teach a character an Ultima-based ability, switch him or her to a job that can use long-range attacks.

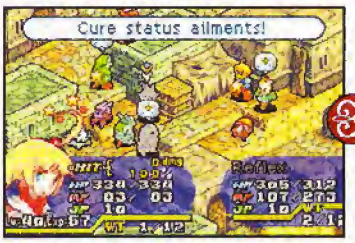
A Gunner who knows Ultima is your enemy's worst nightmare.



Not only will the strategy strike foes from afar, but it keeps the spell from hitting your own nearby units.

DEALING WITH STOP

Stopping an enemy is a great way to destroy it without threat to your own hide, but being stopped yourself is a terrible thing. If an enemy ever freezes you in your tracks, make sure you know how to recover quickly. It could be the difference between winning a battle and going down in flames.



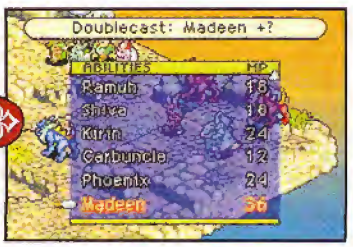
Esuna doesn't work on a stopped unit, so White Mages are useless.

Try a Time Mage or Juggler instead. The Smile and Quicken spells are just the things to get you going.

LAW TRICKERY

Always know the law before you enter a battle. If you don't like a law, walk around the world map for a couple of days until one pops up that's more to your liking. Also know that even if an ability is banned, an enemy can use it. If you're fighting a Totema, for instance, and you ban its main attack, don't be surprised if it racks up the Yellow Cards turn after turn anyway. The judges tend to look the other way if an enemy has a medal beside its name—such a foe will never receive a Red Card.

Summon spells cast under Doublecast don't count as Summon spells as far as the law is concerned.



Make a Red Mage with Summon skills to create a character that excels both on offense and on defense.
